Gunfire Rips Dixmoor

Liquor Store Set On Fire

DIXMOOR, Ill. (AP) — Police and Negroes exchanged shots Monday night in the second night of racial rioting in this Chicago suburb.

No serious injuries were reported, but police arrested 12 white youths who entered the riot area.

Liquor Store Fire

Gunfire crackled through the streets soon after three gasoline bombs set fire to a liquor store which has been the focal point of two days of mob action.

Bullets kicked up dust a few feet from sheriff's police, but no one was reported hit. The liquor store fire was quickly doused by firemen.

Then police, firing tear gas and leading police dogs, dispersed a crowd of 100 Negroes who had ignored previous pleas of clergymen to go home.

The Negroes, who had milled for hours in a parking lot across from the liquor store, rained a shower of rocks and bricks at advancing police.

Tear Gas

The crowd melted, then regathered after tear gas fumes drifted away.

A lull, which no one dared predict would last, settled over the glass-littered scene in this predominantly Negro suburb of 5,000 about two miles south of Chicago.

Much of the debris remained from Sunday night, when rioting caused an estimated 50 injuries and heavy property damage.

The injured were mainly white persons who were stoned in their cars as they drove through the area. One woman was injured Monday night when hit with a brick.

Monday night's rioting broke out at the liquor store and was mostly within a two-block area.

The uneasy peace broke down after the Negroes refused to heed an impassioned plea from civil rights leaders that they disperse.

Helmeted police ordered the crowd to leave or tear gas would be fired.

A few minutes later fire broke out at the rear of the liquor store and shooting broke out. A sheriff's policeman shouted to newsmen, "Get back. They're shooting at us."

Clergymen

Some clergymen, who all evening had been trying to persuade residents to go indoors, were critical of the hard line taken by police.

City and county officials had closed the Foremost Liquor Store, where a dispute between a Negro woman and the white owner had touched off the trouble. It was shuttered for seven days "in the interest of maintaining public welfare and safety."

Other liquor and gun dealers in the area agreed to close voluntarily in the interest of averting rioting.

The Negro speakers, representatives of the Congress of Racial Equality, had talked to the crowds after they refused to go home at the demand of police.

When the shooting and fire broke out, Negroes who had milled for hours in a parking lot started to rain bricks and rocks on police.

Police immediately formed a military-style skirmish line and advanced on the Negroes. They fired tear gas as they advanced.

The demand that the Negroes go home came soon after police arrested a total of seven white youths who exchanged taunts with the Negroes.

One Negro teen-ager told police: "If they start it, we're gonna finish it."

About 40 clergymen — white, trying to persuade loiterers to go home.

Police and city officials had taken precautions to avert a second night of rioting.

S. Viet Loses Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Communist Viet Cong battalion pulled back from skirmishing with airlifted Vietnamese relief troops in the Mekong River delta today after inflicting on government forces one of their bloodiest setbacks in weeks.

The Red guerrillas, again taking advantage of apparent laxity in security precautions, smashed two government posts 90 miles southwest of Saigon late Sunday and ambushed a relief column, adding 117 names to the government's casualty rolls.

Action Centers

The action centered in and around the hamlets of Hoa My and Hiep Hung. It followed a pattern the Viet Cong has operated successfully for months. This is to use a fairly strong attack on some government installation as a lure, then ambush defenders.

It is a pattern that U.S. military advisers have said repeatedly could be broken if Vietnamese army units would consistently put out flank guards and take other measures essential to avoiding ambush. The troops generally have taken this advice lightly.

About 400 Communists attacked the hamlets. They killed eight of the defenders and wounded 19.

Then the bulk of the battalion settled down in roadside hideouts about two miles away to spring the trap on the troops marching to the relief of the hamlets. They killed 22 of the soldiers and wounded 53. In addition, 15 are missing and presumed captured.

The battered column also lost 26 weapons, including two machine guns, but managed to keep going.

Helicopters brought in troops to reinforce the mangled relief units. Officials said these troops caught up with the Viet Cong near one of the posts and fought a pitched battle along a canal. The guerrillas retreated.

Federal Okay Given Courtland Project

EAST STROUDSBURG — Congressman Fred B. Rooney (D.-Pa.) has notified the Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County that final federal approval has been given the S. Courtland St. Urban Renewal Project.

The government approved a $329,780 project, shaving about $3,000 from the authority's estimate of $332,000 for the project.

Beers Notified

King Beers, executive director of the authority, was notified of the approval yesterday afternoon. He told The Daily Record soon after:

"Because of flood control credits which are paying the borough's share of the project it is imperative that the Lincoln Ave. Project move ahead."

Lincoln Ave. is a $1,500,000 project in "the flats" section of East Stroudsburg which is to be parcelled off into industrial development areas.

Beers said that "we will receive no money until the Lincoln Ave. project is approved. I estimate that approval will come in four to six weeks."

Six Acres

Beers added that now that the S. Courtland St. project (totalling about six acres between S. Courtland and Crystal Sts. from St. Matthew's Cemetery to the alley behind Lanterman's Funeral Home) is approved, "we can reassure people that it will be only weeks before relocation starts and payment for properties begins."

"I think by the end of the week," Beers said, "that we will start giving notice for demolition bids. We already have Ed Hess, the county engineer, drawing up specifications for a storm drainage system which will run under the project. After the specifications are made, this will also be up for bids."

Demolition

He said that it would be four to six weeks before any actual demolition would begin — and that this work hung on the approval of the Lincoln Ave. project.

"Now that the S. Courtland St. project has been approved, the redevelopment authority will start final plans and preparations for acquisition of the old Catholic Cemetery and a few residential properties located at the lower end of S. Courtland and Crystal Sts.

"This will be done so that the S. Courtland St. project will extend from Federal St. to Brown St.," Beers said.

Federal St. is the name to be given to the alley behind Lanterman's, which will be widened. A new Acme and post office, as well as other business space and parking facilities will be built on the present site.

Dangerous Intersection

The six acres is dominated at the southern end by a high rocky bluff, on top of which is old St. Matthew's Church. At present, Brown St. curls around the bluff, creating a dangerous intersection with S. Courtland St.

"We have spoken with Harold Kresge of the State Highway Dept.," Beers said last night. "We hope to meet with him, some borough officials, and some members of the planning commission within a week.

"The object of this meeting would be to discuss plans for blasting out the bluff, widening Brown St. in connection with the Lincoln Ave. project (Brown St. marks the northern boundry of the Lincoln Ave. project as well as the southern boundary of the S. Courtland St. project), and bringing Brown St. straight down from the railroad bridge to alleviate the dangerous intersection."

Railroad Property

Beers said that the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad owns a triangular piece of land directly across Brown St. from the bluff, which will border on the easternmost portion of the Lincoln Ave. area.

He said that at this time, "we have not approached the railroad about purchase of that plot of ground."

LBJ Opens Fire On Policy Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big guns of the Johnson administration opened fire Monday on critics of Democratic foreign policy with a warning against "reckless words and deeds" and assurance that America possesses "an aggregation of force unparalleled in history."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson carried to the opening hearings of the Democratic Platform Committee the ammunition for the presidential campaign.

None mentioned the name of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona but all slapped hard at statements of the conservative Republican presidential nominee and the accusation of "weakness before communism" written into the GOP platform last month.

McNamara told the Democratic platform writers the U.S. Strategic Forces have now, and will retain in the 1970s, power sufficient to "insure the destruction of both the Soviet Union and Communist China."

"There should be no doubt of this in the mind of any American," McNamara said. "There is none in the minds of our enemies."

He laid out mountainous figures on U.S. missile and manner-bomber strength to meet Republican charges of looming weakness, contrasting today's position with what he called the "vulnerable" state of American defense when the Democrats took office in 1961.

And he swung this blow at Goldwater's proposal that the President share control over nuclear weapons with the supreme North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander: "We in the Defense Department will spare no energy to make certain that the President of the United States — and he alone — has complete control over the dispatch of our nuclear weapons."

Rusk sailed into charges that the administration is pursuing a timid, confused "no-win" foreign policy, while assuring the committee of about 100 platform drafters that, "We do approach our problems soberly and responsibly."

"President John F. Kennedy faced the missiles in Cuba and President Johnson the attacks on American naval vessels in the Gulf of Tonkin," Rusk said.

"We do not draw back from the confrontation between the free world and the world of coercion."

Stevenson told the Platform Committee that the Communist nations apparently would gain voting strength in the United Nations if the United Nations adopted the Republican platform proposal to change its voting system to reflect "population disparities."

UAW Rejects Big 3 Offer; Situation Termed Serious

DETROIT (AP) — Three-year contracts calling for higher wages, larger pensions and earlier retirement were offered their half-million production workers Monday by General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

Turned Down

But they were quickly turned down as "terribly disappointing" by the United Auto Workers Union. One company spokesman said that "makes the situation very serious."

The union, already in the process of taking a strike vote among workers in all three companies, called its GM, Ford and Chrysler councils and its Executive Board to meet Thursday in Chicago.

If precedent is followed, the UAW board will pick its No. 1 strike target there. Normally the union presses to a contract — or a strike — at one company, then demands that the others meet or improve the agreement won there.

Model-Year Race

When current three-year agreements run out two weeks from Monday, the automakers will be just getting into high gear on 1965 model production. None likes to get left at the post in a model-year race.

Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president-labor relations, described the virtual paralleling offers as "the most generous we have ever made the UAW."

UAW President Walter P. Reuther has named 4.9 per cent as "a minimum" economic gain the union will accept. He has termed profits of all three companies "fantastic" and has demanded "equity" for his members.

The companies had record-breaking profits last year and rolled up even larger ones in this year's first half than in 1963's first six months.

None of the companies or the UAW put a dollars and cents estimate on Mondays offers, but Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president, expressed doubt the package would amount to 30 cents hourly in three years at GM.

Disagree

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates the current hourly wage in the auto industry as a whole is $3.01, but each of the Big Three claims it is above this figure.

Some company sources estimated the offer would increase basic wages from 18 to 36 cents over a three-year contract, continuing or approximating the so-called annual improvement factor in current agreements which raise wages automatically six cents hourly or 2.5 per cent, whichever is greater.

Liberals To Fight Reapportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic liberals refused Monday to drop their fight against delaying or blocking the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment ruling, despite the urging of top administration legal experts.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, giving up hope of adjourning Congress this weekend, immediately put into effect plans to call the Senate back into session after next week's Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, N.J.

Position Unchanged

Spokesmen for a small group of liberals fighting against a rider to the $3.3-billion foreign aid authorization which would delay court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures said their position is unchanged after a conference with Justice Department officials.

Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., said Dep. Atty. Gen. Nicholas D. Katzenbach and Solicitor General Archibald Cox argued that the compromise rider was "acceptable' and would not be "an affront to the Supreme Court" as the senators contend.

The proposal, offered by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and cosponsored by Mansfield, would delay carrying out the Supreme Court reapportionment ruling for up to two years "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

Compromise Language

Proxmire said that Katzenbach and Cox, who helped work out the language of the compromise with Dirksen and Mansfield, told the group it is "acceptable, would not be an affront to the Supreme Court and would not seriously interfere" with the reapportionment drive.

Proxmire said the conference with the attorneys was "very helpful and left all of us with a better understanding of the amendment."

"However, those of us who are determined to carry on this fight to prevent its adoption were not changed in this resolve," he told reporters.

Douglas said this view is shared by others at the conference, including Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

The meeting, in Mansfield's office, came after the Democratic leader told party colleagues if they don't accept a "reasonable compromise" Congress will have to resume sessions Aug. 31.

Mansfield said that President Johnson must have the foreign aid bill, even if it means holding Congress in session during the election campaign.

Kresge: Nauman Has 2-Job Pick

STROUDSBURG — Harold Kresge, Monroe County Republican chairman, revealed yesterday that John Nauman of Cresco is being relieved of his duties as assistant state highway superintendent and is being offered his choice of two other state jobs.

Refused Comment

Last night Nauman steadfastly refused to comment on the situation. Earlier in the day he issued a statement saying he has always been a loyal Republican.

Last year Nauman was unsuccessful in his quest to be reelected GOP committeman from Barrett Township.

Kresge, who is also director of highway personnel for the Allentown district, said, "I have two different jobs for him (Nauman) and I want him to take his pick. This move is not a dismissal. He is being moved to another job."

The county GOP chairman said Nauman's last day on the job will be Wednesday and he was being replaced by Harry Campbell of Cresco, Barrett Township police chief. Kresge said Campbell will start the job Aug. 20.

In his statement Nauman, who refused to confirm that he is slated for dismissal, said:

"I have been a good Republican and have also been conscientious about my highway work for a long time. I have had many years of experience in the heavy construction field, and know that good Republicans will recognize my loyalty and devotion to my job."

"Transfer"

In commenting on what he called a "transfer," Kresge said, "This move has been in the making for a long time. Either one of the new job looks better to me."

Kresge would not identify the nature of the jobs saying he wanted to talk with Nauman first. Nauman would neither confirm nor deny Kresge's version of the situation.

Hoffa Gets 5 Year Jail Sentence, Fined $10,000 By High Court

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the huge Teamsters Union was sentenced Monday to five years in prison and fined $10,000 for fraud in obtaining loans from the union's $280 million pension fund.

James R. Hoffa

Co-defendants Sentenced

Six codefendants also were sentenced and five of them were fined $5,000 each on charges of fraud and conspiracy in handling loans from the fund.

While Judge Richard B. Austin of U.S. District Court made no specific ruling, it was believed any term Hoffa must serve will follow an eight-year sentence he was given for tampering with a jury in Chattanooga, Tenn. He is appealing the Chattanooga conviction.

Hoffa's chief counsel, Maurice Walsh, told a newsman "We have 10 days to file an appeal and we'll wait it out before we file."

Overrules Motion

Judge Austin overruled all motions for new trials, acquittal and arrest of judgment.

The sentences for the codefendants were:

Benjamin Dranow, former Minneapolis businessman now serving a federal prison term for tax evasion and fraud, five years.

Samuel Hyman, Miami Beach real estate operator, one year and one day and a $5,000 fine.

Calvin Kovens, Miami Beach contractor, three years and a $5,000 fine.

Abe I. Weinblatt, a retired New York furrier now living in Miami Beach, one hour in the custody of the U. S. Marshall and a $5,000 fine.

Zachary Strate Jr., New Orleans builder now living in San Juan, P.R., three years and a $5,000 fine.

S. George Burris, New York accountant, 18 months in prison and a $5,000 fine.

7 Out On Bond

The seven defendants are permitted their freedom on bond.

An unusual feature of the sentences provided that the Bureau of Prisons may release any of the defendants at its discretion. This means there is no minimum time requirement for actual imprisonment.

A jury convicted the seven men last month after a 13-week trial that involved more than 16,000 pages of testimony.

Kickback

The government charged that Hoffa and his associates conspired to arrange a total of $25 million in loans from the pension fund and received $1.7 million in kickbacks from individuals who got the loans.

The prosecution also contended that the defendants set up the loan-kickbacks scheme to bail out Hoffa in failing real estate ventures in Florida.

Hoffa denied the charges. He said he was but one of the 16 trustees of the pension fund. The fund lost no money on the loans.

NEWS BRIEFS

Indonesians Invade Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A small Indonesian invasion force has landed in Malaya — Malaysia's main land mass — and clashed with troops and police, the Malaysian government reported Monday. It said sporadic fighting, with invaders firing mortars, wore on into the night.

The landing came as Indonesia observed its independence day.

A Defense Ministry statement said there were no casualties but that 16 of the invaders had been captured. "Mop-up operations are still continuing," the statement said.

FBI Probes Vote Fraud

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Department of Justice ordered the FBI in Philadelphia Monday to look into allegations of vote fraud in the April 28 Democratic Senate primary in some sections of Philadelphia.

The FBI here said a full investigation of charges and allegations of vote switching or miscounting had been requested by Assistant Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division. Shortly after the vote count here the FBI prepared a preliminary report which was sent to Washington.

Greece Removes NATO Troops

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — In a new blow to Western unity, Greece announced Monday it is pulling some army, navy and air force units from the Atlantic alliance to defend Cyprus and "to ward off the constant Turkish threat."

The decision further threatened the eastern flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, guarded by Greece and Turkey. Turkey withdrew some air force planes from NATO control Aug. 9. Greece cited this in cables to NATO headquarters in Paris as the reason for its decision.

Polaris Base Hit By Fire

DUNOON, Scotland, (AP) — Flames that started with a whoosh Monday destroyed a 250-yard-long woooden pier serving the U.S. Polaris base on the Holy Loch in Scotland.

Firemen fought for six hours in a vain effort to save the pier, a British Navy installation leased by the United States for the past four years. The Polaris depot ship USS Hunley was at anchor offshore and was not endangered.

Health-Care Program Beat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved Monday a House-passed bill increasing Social Security benefits — and taxes — but rejected three attempts to tie into the system a health-care program for the elderly.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., beaten 11-6 in the committee, said he would attempt again on the Senate floor to attach the King-Anderson health-care proposal which is backed strongly by President Johnson. Gore expressed confidence he can win enough votes there.

Senate Okays Seneca Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved Monday night a compromise bill to authorize a $15,000,573 damage and rehabilitation fund to help New York's Seneca Indians adjust to construction of the Allegheny River Dam and Reservoir.

House approval of an agreement worked out by a special committee early last week is all that is needed now to send the bill to President Johnson for his signature.

Market Advance Slowed Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Two big losers — Fifth Avenue Coach Lines and Mack Trucks — spoiled a moderate advance in the stock market Monday.

The two casualties dominated late trading and accounted for about 10 per cent of the entire volume on the New York Stock Exchange, which totaled 3.78 million shares compared with 4.05 million Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with an advance of 1.40 at 840.21, but in the overall list, more stocks declined than advanced.

Bangor Board To Collect $8,000

BANGOR — Bangor Area School Board last night took steps to collect nearly $8,000 in earned income taxes from Washington Twp. Supervisors.

The action resulted when it was learned that township supervisors reported collecting $7,928.37 in wage taxes which the area school board claims belongs to them.

It was explained that the supervisors are not entitled to the earned income tax funds until Oct. 15. The school directed Edmund Turtzo, solicitor, to secure from Washington Twp. all records belonging to the school district and also to investigate why certain firms in Washington Twp. are not deducting earned income taxes from employees pay.

The board elected James R. Chamberlain, a 1964 East Stroudsburg State College graduate, to teach health and physical education in junior high at $4,700 per year. Chamberlain will serve as a temporary replacement for Paul Wagner who is hospitalized with injuries suffered in an accident.

Pennsylvanian Killed In Crash

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A 20-year-old Lancaster, Pa., man was among four military men killed in a helicopter crash Friday in South Korea.

The army Monday released the name of Pfc. James R. Ely, whose mother, Anna B. Ely lives in Lancaster, as one of the victims.

The crash occurred at Kwangju, 150 miles south of here. The helicopter reportedly was lifting telephone poles by a sling when a tail rotor struck a hillside. The helicopter then crashed and hit a land mine.

Architect Commissioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alen, Rodda & Hauck, a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., architectural firm, has been chosen to design a new post office building at Wilkes-Barre, the Post Office Department announced Monday.

The building will be erected on the south side of Main Street in the block bounded by Ross, Academy Street extended, and Pennsylvania Boulevard. It will be leased by the Post Office Department.

Allen, Rodda & Houck is to develop detailed work drawings and specifications for the new building. Bids will be based on the specifications.

Philadelphia Registration

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrats have outregistered Republicans by nearly 4-to-1 in Philadelphia since Sen. Barry Goldwater won the Republican presidential nomination, the Democratic city committee says. Francis R. Smith, committee chairman, reported Saturday that 20,063 Democrats and 5,839 Republicans have been placed on the rolls since July 27.

New Firm To Run Pagent

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) —A new corporation proposes to take charge of the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant in a petition filed at Chester County court Monday.

The West Chester Chamber of Commerce has staged the yearly competition. Harvey C. Worthington, Chamber of Commerce president, said the change is proposed because the year-round demands of the statewide competition infringe upon regular Chamber of Commerce duties.

Pending Legislation

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, says he intends to sponsor legislation next year to establish state universities in the eastern and western sections of the state.

Pechan said his proposal would make Temple University in Philadelphia and Indiana State College in Indiana the second and third state universities in the Commonwealth.

The legislation would make the two schools similar in character to the Pennsylvania State University.

Both Penn State and Temple receive state aid—non-preferred appropriations. Penn State got about $25 million this year; Temple was appropriated about $6.5 million.

Miss Blatt Convention Guest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs and candidate for the U.S. Senate, is one of 12 women prominent in public life who have been chosen to take part in a series of morning discussions at the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City.

Miss Blatt will be a panelist on a "political participation" panel on Aug. 28. Sen. Pierre Salinger of California will be the moderator.

Johnson Picks Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says Pennsylvania is among 16 states tentatively chosen as sites for job corps conservation camps.

The president made the statement Saturday, coupled with an announcement of the formal nomination of Sargent Shriver to head the new anti-poverty program that will be sent to the Senate Monday.

The Pennsylvania Story

Pittsburgh Lassie

By Mason Denison

HARRSIBURG —Despite continuing legal hassles there is every indication that the girl from Pittsburgh, Miss Genevieve Blatt, will eventually be certified as the winner of the Democratic primary election as nominee for the U.S. Senate.

At this writing, the only hope of Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno is that the U.S. Supreme Court will override all the legal wisdom of Pennsylvania courts.

So Gen. Blatt can straighten her skirts, fix her hair, and sally forth as a member of the donkey-riding team on the November election ticket.

And who has a better right as a team member? Way back in 1951 when "Mike" Musmanno challenged the Democratic organization and on his own—with his own colorful fighting style of campaigning — beat down the organization to win nomination for the high court, the Blatt girl was secretary of the Democratic State Committee and as regular as you could get.

In that year (1951) there were two vacancies to be filled on the high court and under constitutional provisions each political party was guaranteed of placing a justice on the bench. So after beating down Grover C. Ladner, 347,567 to 259,646 in the primaries, Justice Musmanno polled 1,461,026 general election votes in what amounted to a "no contest." At the same time Republicans placed the late T. McKeen Chidsey on the court with 1,569,195 votes—also no contest.

Now Justice Musmanno is next line to become chief justice, and his term doesn't expire until 1973. And he can't run for re-election to another 21-year term — no future in these high judicial jobs.

Meantime, Miss Blatt built her own political fences by never turning down a chance to speak at meetings of women; by being active in non-partisan college groups, and by plain hard political campaigning.

In 1954 she was swept into office on the Leader ticket (1,908,444 votes) and has been twice re-elected as Secretary of Internal Affairs, while other Democrats went down the drain. Her current term expires in 1967.

Last spring when some of the other Demo big-wigs decided they didn't want Gen Blatt for the U.S. Senate, she broke with party leadership for the first time. Or did she?

As the primary campaign developed such stalwarts as Mrs. Emma Guffy Miller, who called herself the "old gray mare" of the party, and Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, long associated with Lawrence Democrats, came out for Blatt.

There was much talk that many others high in Democratic ranks were plugging away for the lady candidate in private, as they openly swallowed the organization edict and said "vote for Musmanno." That's the way it often happens in politics.

As an administrator in the Department of Internal Affaris, Gen Blatt is — from all reports — doing a first rate job. Offices are well-run, assignments are met on time, and in fact some of her staff are inclined to think of her at times as something of a slavedriver.

When the chips are down in "smoke - filled rooms" she can stand up to any male politico in give and take, and has been known to deliver some blistering remarks in party cacuses when she thought they were fittin!

After whomping Audrey Kelly two years ago, the November run in 1964 with LBJ at the top of the ticket might look easy—were it not for Hugh Scott. This man Scott, who wants to stay in the Senate has a habit of winning elections.

So two consistant winners — the U.S. Supreme Court willing — will be paired off for U.S. Senator in November. Watch the fur fly!

Musmanno Requests Court Sit In Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michael A. Musmanno requested the U.S. Supreme Court Monday to sit in special session and review a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision which apparently has cost him the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Abraham E. Freedman, Musmanno's counsel, in filing the petition, noted that the U.S. Supreme Court has held only four special sessions in the last 40 years. The court is not due to reconvene from its summer recess until Oct. 5.

Freedman contends in the petition that 5,624 voters in Philadelphia were deprived of constitutional rights when the state court invalidated their ballots. Those voters cast "wrong-line" ballots in the primary contest April 28 between Mussmanno, a state Supreme Court justice, and Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs.

Miss Blatt holds a 457-vote edge over Musmanno in the count of votes approved thus far. But an addition of the 5,624 wrong-line ballots to the contest would give Musmanno a 700-vote plurality.

In the petition, Freedman contends the U.S. Supreme Court has many times confirmed the responsibility of respecting the "clear intention of the voters." The disputed votes were cast below the candidates' name on the ballot.

The state court ruled 3-2 that the court could not read the intent of the voters when they cast their ballots on the wrong lines. In a dissenting opinion, one justice said, however, it was the court's duty to read the "obvious intent" of the voters in this case.

Spred Housepaint Does The Job

Fetherman's Store Offers All Colors

Spred House Paint, the paint that's been tested for the past five years and proven to be one of the most outstanding outside house paints of its kind, covers more area per brushful, spreads on easy, and will out last all other paint jobs if used as directed.

Investigate Spredhouse paint — find out the real truth about a paint that more than does the job.

Most people will agree that it is "penny-wise, pound foolish" to use a cheap bargain paint, when the cost of even the best quality paint represents only 10 to 15 per cent of the cost of the painting job, says Fred Fetherman of Fetherman's Paint Store, Stroudsburg.

Since quality paint hides better and lasts longer, it is false thinking to hope to save a few dollars on the cost of paint and then discover that you have to use two coats instead of one and have to repaint years sooner than if you had used a quality product originally.

Surveys reveal that about 70 per cent of home interior painting today is a do-it-yourself project, but the same facts hold true. The money you think you save with a bargain paint—the kind that is always on sale—has to be compared with the waste of time it takes to apply two coats of gimmick-sold paint instead of one coat of quality paint.

You must also take into consideration the time you'll have to spend cleaning the surface and repainting oftener and years earlier than you should. Lastly, the primary purposes of paint are to beautify and to protect your property, but you should consider the economy of buying quality paint also.

How does one recognize a quality paint? Unfortunately one cannot judge quality by looking at the paint can or reading the list of ingredients on the lable. The real way to get quality paint is to buy it from a respectable dealer.

But there are certain other guides for the consumer when selecting quality paint. It is safe to assume that if a particular brand has performed well in your neighborhood under conditions of climate, exposure and use similar to those which you have, then it is a quality paint.

With this in mind, ask Fetherman's Paint Store, Main St., Stroudsburg, about a satisfactory paint.

A way of determining whether a paint is quality paint is to note how it is sold and advertised. Reputable manufacturers of quality paints may have annual or semi-annual sales, some reputable dealers may sell a brand a bit cheaper than other dealers carrying the same line, but the day-in, day-out "sale" should make you wary.

As a leading magazine has said: If the price of paint sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

PRESTO! IT'S NEW AGAIN

Brighten up those old wooden or metal based lamps with a coat of enamel, suggests the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. You can choose your color from a virtually unlimited supply of quality enamels. After you've painted the lamp, add a new lampshade and presto! you have a bright, new lamp.

PICTURED is Fred Fetherman of Fetherman's Paint Store, 766 Main St., Stroudsburg, showing a color chart to a customer and explaining how to use the Spred House paint that has rapidly becoming the number one Outside House paint since the past few years. Fred carries the most complete line of paints and painters suplies.

Sheldon Newell Winterizes Home Doors And Windows

Are your windows and doors protected against the winter winds? If not, you're wasting heat and missing the comfort of a draft-free home. Sheldon Newell of 129 Huston Ave., in Stroudsburg, specializes in the installation of the finest storm-screem windows and doors on the market today.

Constructions of these units is of heavy duty Alcoa extruded aluminum. Master frames of windows are of the newest concave extrusions and is offered in regular aluminum finish, white baked enamel finish or in anodized satin finish.

Corner gussets of extruded aluminum are used for added strength and triple track construction allows for easy removal of either glass panel or screen panel for cleaning.

Storage of the panel not being used is easy, as it is self-storing in the door. Wool pile weather stripping is used to seal the sliding panels.

While the quality of these units is high, the cost is surprisingly low. Prices range from $15.95 to $24.95 completely installed.

A borough, a unit of municipal government peculiar to Pennsylvania and only a few other states, is a self-governing, incorporated town. It is different from both a township and a city.

18 Support Cases Heard

STROUDSBURG — The attorney for the plaintiff in a complaint for support action yesterday in Monroe County Court said his client was seeking money from her husband "because she objects to his picking out the food. She got to the point where she didn't like his menu."

Atty. Kennard Lewis of East Stroudsburg made the remark in behalf of Mrs. Joyce Dotter, of Stroudsburg, who was seeking support from her husband, Delbert A. Dotter, also of Stroudsburg, for herself and the couple's two children.

The Dotter case was one of 18 presented by James R. Marsh, county district attorney, before President Judge Fred W. Davis.

The only criminal action saw Edward E. Bosman, a teacher from 102 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, plead guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Bosman was sentenced to pay a $300 fine and court costs. Speaking Brosman's defense, Atty. Lee B. Koehler of East Stroudsburg, told the court Brosman was "a fine gentleman, the father of three children and a teacher."

$15 Per Week

During the support hearings—which lasted until 6 p.m., Judge Davis ordered Dotter to pay $15 a week in support. He also ordered him to furnish his wife with a trailer the couple had been living in and to furnish all utilities.

Other support cases heard were:

—Lois Kuzara of New York vs. Richard Kitchen of East Stroudsburg. Kitchen was ordered to pay $100 a month for the support of his four children. The couple are divorced and both have re-married.

—Linda Wismer of Stroudsburg vs. Dory Wismer of California. Mrs. Wismer is seeking support for herself and her two children in a inter-state action.

—Naomi Mosier, deceased vs. Earl Mosier of Bayonne, N. J. Mosier was brought into court because of the $1,942 in arrears to the Children's Aid Society for the support of his children. At one time Mosier had five children with the agency. Now he has two.

The case was continued for two months and Mosier was ordered to pay $25 a week under an old court order.

—Ursula Grillas of Stroudsburg vs. William Grillas of Chicago. Mrs. Grillas, who is now divorced from her husband, is seeking support for one child.

—Madalyn Nolan of Mt. Pocono vs. George Nolan of Cresco. Nolan was ordered to pay $30 a week for his two children and court costs within 30 days.

—Louise Frey of Marshalls Creek vs. Grant Frey Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla. Mrs. Frey instituted an inter-state action seeking support for three children.

—Edna Metzger of Tannersville vs. Clair Metzger of Arizona. Mrs. Metzger is asking support for one child.

—Pauline Stevens vs. Thorton Counterman of Mt. Pocono. The case was continued for two months.

Case Continued

—Claire Bailey of Philadelphia vs. Robert Bailey. The case was continued to Oct. 6 and Bailey was ordered to pay $50 a week for the support of his ex-wife and three children.

—Roberta J. Gilliland of Stroudsburg, RD 3 vs. Richard Gilliland of East Stroudsburg RD 1. Gilliland was ordered to pay $40 a week for his wife and four children.

—Irma A. Pugh of Stroudsburg vs. Harold F. Pugh of East Stroudsburg. Pugh was freed from jail upon payment of court costs.

—Saundra Pysher of East Stroudsburg vs. James Pysher of Bangor, RD 1. The case was continued and Pysher was told to arrange for a 500 security bond. He remains in jail.

—Emma J. Rarick of East Stroudsburg vs. George N. Rarick, also of East Stroudsburg. The probation department was ordered to look into the situation. He was freed from jail and given 15 days to pay costs.

—Alice Gass of Easton vs. Gilbert Edinger Jr. Edinger was freed from jail in order to get a job. He must pay costs in 30 days.

—Emile Singer of Stroudsburg vs. Edward L. Singer of Stroudsburg. Singer was jailed until he can raise a $1,000 security bond.

—Joan Chambers of Stroudsburg vs. Arvet M. Chambers Jr. Chambers was ordered to pay $10 a week on his back payments, in addition to his regular $35 a week payment.

PP&L Reimburses Chamber $962 For Ad

STROUDSBURG—Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. yesterday reimbursed the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce for one-half of the cost of the chamber's recent ad in the New York Times directed at attracting new industry to the area.

R. E. Reppert, PP and L manager in the Poconos, said that the utility company will match all such expenditures of the chamber throughout 1965 as he presented a check of $962.50 to R. M. Hoot, executive secretary of the chamber.

Hoot said that with electric company funds and matching funds under the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Assistance Act, the chamber has available four times as much money for promotional advertising as it can provide from its own funds alone.

"We have a very definite stake in bringing new industry to central eastern Pennsylvania, for a utility cannot prosper unless its utilities also thrive," Reppert said.

Hoot said the chamber wanted to publicly express its appreciation to PP and L for its contribution toward the promotion of the business climate of the area.

REHEARSAL—Members of the Oxford, N. J., Volunteer Fire Department, who will put on a benefit minstrel show for the victims of the June 26 blast at Marshalls Creek, look over the script with director and accompanist Mrs. Jack Bowen Sr. Scheduled for the East Stroudsburg High School at 8 p.m. Saturday, actors (left to right) Harold Repsher, Jimmy Burns, and Buss Hartzell, company president, and actor Bob Cooper want to be sure of their lines. Lincoln, Kennedy Similarity Shown

By Jeff Cox
Daily Record Reporter

TOBYHANNA — There's a slip of paper circulating at the Tobyhanna Army Depot that points up the similarities between the tragic deaths of two of America's presidents.

Some say the information came from a column by Jim Bishop. Others don't know who first listed the similarities.

The paper doesn't really prove anything — except that history runs in cycles, or that people are fond of drawing parallels between historic events.

Whatever the reason for listing the similarities, they are indeed striking. The paper says:

"Both president Lincoln and Kennedy were concerned with the issue of civil rights.

"Lincoln was elected in 1860; Kennedy in 1960.

"Both were slain on Friday, and in the presence of their wives.

"Both were shot from behind and in the head.

"Their successors, both named Johnson, were southern Democrats, and both were in the Senate.

"Andrew Johnson was born in 1808; Lyndon Johnson was born in 1908.

"John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839; Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939.

"Booth and Oswald were southerners favoring unpopular ideas.

"Booth and Oswald were both assassinated before going to trial.

"Both presidents' wives lost children through death while in the White House.

Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, advised him not to go to the theater.

"Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln, advised him not to go to Dallas.

"John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln in a theater and ran to a warehouse.

"Oswald shot Kennedy from a warehouse and ran to a theater.

"The names, Lincoln and Kennedy, each contain seven letters.

"The names, Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson, each contain thirteen letters.

The names, John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald, each contain fifteen letters."

Trailer Park's Relocation Probed By Eastburg Group

EAST STROUDSBURG — Problems of relocating a trailer park near East Stroudsburg State College were taken up at a recent meeting of the Board of Adjustment for the East Stroudsburg Zoning Ordinance.

It was reported that a trailer installed at 11 Roller St. has been removed after a permit was refused. According to a decision of the planning commission, two or more trailers are not permitted on a lot 40 by 125 feet.

A request was made by Rose Morris to relocate seven trailers to an adjoining lot. The land where these trailers are now located will be acquired by the college.

With the granting of this permit, the board made the stipulation that seven will be the maximum number of trailers allowed in the court.

Further stipulations are that the court cannot exceed the present boundaries nor be further expanded.

Also, the present court must be cleaned up, with grass and weeds trimmed. The permit is subject to review in three years.

A permit was granted for $8,000 worth of renovations to an ESSC fraternity house.

Oxford Firemen To Aid Victims

EAST STROUDSBURG — Members of the Oxford, N.J., Volunteer Fire Department will hold a Marshalls Creek Benefit Minstrel Show at the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jack Bowen Sr., the proceeds will go to aid the families of the six persons killed in the blast from a burning explosives truck near Marshalls Creek on June 26, and to help the Marshalls Creek Fire Company replace equipment destroyed in the disaster.

The show is a repeat of the 15th annual minstrel show put on recently by the fire company from New Jersey for its own building and equipment fund.

Mrs. Bowen is accompanist for the two hour production featuring some 30 minstrels and a dozen specialty acts. Tickets may be purchased at local fire houses, and at stores displaying a placard for the show.

Correction

TANNERSVILLE — In a two-car accident investigated by State Police at Stroudsburg in front of the Pocono Twp. School in Tannersville on Saturday at 9:30 p.m., Charles K. Loring, 36, of Moscow, was incorrectly identified as being close to being arrested for assault and battery because of profane language and actions at the scene.

Police said yesterday it was, Henry Johnson, 62, of Scot Run who had the alleged trouble with state police.

Gas Burns Victim, 16, Dies

EAST STROUDSBURG —LeRoy Bishop, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop of 186 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg died from kidney failure due to extensive thermal burns on 90 per cent of his body in the General Hospital of Monroe County yesterday at 2:20 p.m. Daniel G. Warner, acting Monroe County Coroner said yesterday.

The youth, was severly burned in a East Stroudsburg service station flash-fire Saturday shortly after 8 p.m. He had been in critical condition at the hospital since.

Warner said that he will investigate the mishap. "After I confer with East Stroudsburg Police, an announcement will be made."

According to East Stroudsburg police, Bishop, who was not employed at Serfass' Service Station at Washington and Courtland St., in East Stroudsburg, but was inside cleaning tools with a gasoline solution. Two of the three boys who were with him at the time asked him whether or not the solution they were using would burn. Reportedly, Bishop struck a match and the gasoline fumes flared up and spread fire throughout the garage.

The three youths later told police that Bishop definitely struck the match.

The body was released to the Lanterman Funeral Home, East Stroudsburg.

Young Bishop was a student in the ninth grade at East Stroudsburg Area High School.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, James, John and Ricky, all at home; one sister, Linda, at home; and his paternal grandfather, William T. Bishop of Cherry Valley.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Lanterman Funeral Home in East Stroudsburg with the Rev. Norman R. Savage officiating.

Burial will be Custard Cemetery in Bartonsville.

There will be no viewing.

Burglaries Probed In West End

BRODHEADSVILLE — State Police at Fern Ridge investigated three burglaries within the last week. The latest occurred over the weekend at the West End Service Station in Brodheadsville.

Irwin Altemose, proprietor of the station, told police that someone had forced their way in through a rear door late Saturday night. Nothing was reported missing according to police.

Also, burglars broke into a motel and a diner in Brodheadsville between Friday night and Saturday morning and took an undetermined amount of money.

John Prescott of Saylorsburg, RD, told state police thieves smashed two windows to gain entry into the West End Diner, which he owns and manages. They broke open a juke box and several game machines and made off with the change, he said.

Burglars pried open a back door at the West End Motel, about a quarter of a mile from the diner, early Saturday and rifled the cash register and a petty cash box. Joseph Meyer, the owner, said his wife discovered the theft when she opened the motel office about 7:30 a.m.

State Police at Fern Ridge are continuing the investigation of the series of thefts. No new developments were reported yesterday.

4 Deeds Filed

STROUDSBURG — Four deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder.

Deeds filed were Pocono Lakeshore, Inc., to Mrs. Bessie Bubb of Wernersville, RD 3, property at Monroe Lake Shores Western Heritage, Ltd., of Canada to Charles F. and Evelyn A. Primrose of East Stroudsburg, RD 1, property at Hidden Lake.

Also Charles F. and Evelyn A. Primrose of East Stroudsburg, RD 1, to Jane H. and William H. Murdock of Broomall, property in Middle Smithfield Township, and Fred Armitage and Frank O. and Gertrude M. Armitage, all of Eldred Township to Frank O. and Gertrude M. Armitage, property in Stroud Township.

MORA Meets Tomorrow

STROUDSBURG — The Men of Retirement Age Club will meet Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Stroudsburg YMCA. A picture showing the operation of the Volkswagen plant in Germany will be shown.

Obituaries

Clair Dreisbach, Acme Manager

EAST STROUDSBURG—Clair W. Dreisbach, 54 manager of the Acme market in the Stroud Shopping Center, of 126 Ridgeway St., East Stroudsburg was dead on arrival yesterday at 1:45 p.m. at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

According to Daniel G. Warner, chief deputy coroner of Monroe County, Driesbach went to the Arlington Branch of the First Stroudsburg National Bank at the shopping center to make a deposit. When he left the bank and started out in his car, he became ill and the car drifted onto old Rt. 611 and came to a stop.

A passerby, Joseph Mustacchio of Bell, N.J., who was traveling north saw the apparent trouble, stopped his car, got out and saw Mr. Dreisbach slumped over the wheel. Mustacchio and several men pushed the car off the road.

Driesbach was taken to the hospital in the Tannersville ambulance.

"Driesbach died of natural cause due to accute coronary occulsion," Warner said.

The body was released to the Dunkleberger and Westbrook Funeral Home.

Born in Lehighton, he was a son of the late Minnie and Walbert Dreisbach. He was a resident of Monroe County for the past eight years.

He was an employee of the Acme stores for the past 38 years. He formerly came from Allentown where he was also an employe of the Acme stores. He has worked in Acme's stores in Stroudsburg, Lehighton, Allentown, Bethlehem and Emmaus.

Mr. Dreisbach was a member of the J. Simpson African Lodge F & A M in East SEtroudsburg; the Keystone Consistory in Scranton; the Lehigh Valley Club in Allentown; and St. John's Lutheran Church in Stroudsburg.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy K. Dreisbach at home and a son, The Rev. John D. Dreisbach of Gouglersville, Pa.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home.

THE COMMON-SENSE CAR

Party Platform Important

The Democratic National Convention convenes in Atlantic City next week to nominate Lyndon B. Johnson for the presidency.

At least, everyone is sure Johnson will be nominated.

With the Republican convention neatly wrapped up by Barry Goldwater before it opened, and Johnson a sure-shot in Atlantic City, most interest has centered on the vice presidential picks.

But the convention-viewer should take note of another distinction, and one that is probably more important than the choice of a VP.

That is the party platform.

In the past, political pundits have sharply criticized both party platforms as being meaningless. They have noted, with some astuteness, that the similarities in the platforms were more obvious than the differences.

The stand taken by the Republicans in San Francisco on basic issues differed sharply from previous stands. With Barry Goldwater as the ticket leader, many expected references to extremist groups.

The platform committee went hand-in-hand with Goldwater, and no formal denunciations of extremist groups were written into the platform.

It sounded more conservative than in past years. The wording against accumulation of federal power was sharper. The conservative plea for economic determinism without federal intervention was more forceful.

So the Democrats are faced with the task of writing a platform that means something. The forthcoming document must be a reliable and an accurate resume of Democratic ideals and values.

It is doubtful whether there will be any floor fights over planks with the exception of Southern Democrats and a civil rights plank—such as characterized the GOP acceptance of its platform. President Johnson will probably scrutinize each plank carefully before acceptance.

The rallies for Johnson—as for Goldwater — will be carefully planned, though they seem spontaneous.

But whereas many observers remarked that the GOP takeover by Goldwater in San Francisco seemed remarkably like a railroad job—and undoubtedly Goldwater packed the convention with his supporters to the surprise of the more liberal Republicans—there will be no power grab in Atlantic City.

The Democrats have held the office of president since 1933 with only an eight year Republican stint during the Fifties. They have the power. They control Congress, the cities, and the east.

The truly interesting news to come from Atlantic City this week will be a meaningful statement of Democratic party principles.

Since the GOP has decided to move further right, the Democrats find themselves alone, holding down the middle and the left.

A clearcut stand on issues from Atlantic City will do much to erase the impression of vagueness that has been the hallmark of American policy lately. This stand has been forced by the GOP.

Given a challenge, the Democrats must meet it this week.

Making Hay In Illinois

Presidential candidates are supposed to enjoy letting the grass roots tickle their toes, and nowhere does the grass grow thicker than at a state fair. For canny politicians, state fairs combine the virtues of a rural atmosphere and a city-sized audience. It is no accident, then, that Sen. Barry Goldwater is building his campaign around homespun speaking dates at such goings-on as the Illinois State Fair and the National Plowing Contest in North Dakota a month later.

The Goldwater victory strategy calls for carrying most of the farm-belt states in November. Although Illinois went to John F. Kennedy in 1960 by a narrow margin achieved in Chicago, the Goldwater strategists have not conceded that territory to President Johnson. Even without Illinois, Republicans hope to keep the loyalty of five midcontinent farm states—Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota—which together in 1960 gave Richard M. Nixon lop-sided majorities.

Many analysts have ascribed Nixon's farm-belt triumph to the influence of religion and bigotry. Yet Theodore H. White wrote (The Making of the President: 1960) that it was not religion which operated there "but much more the culture of the small town." Adds White: "These were Nixon's people, by nature and upbringing, by speech and culture; he spoke for them."

Cornbelt loyalties have a decided Republican bias, but at times the farmers seem to be alienated from both political parties. Farmers both demand and damn the farm subsidy programs that form the base at which farm income is supposed to be held. They are strongly anti-Communist but most of them favor sales of surplus wheat to the Soviet bloc. Goldwater himself must be wondering how they will react to his farm policy. The Arizonian has been among the most consistent foes of government subsidies, price supports, and closer ties with Russia.

Political Huddle

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — Every legislative day, somewhere between eight and six minutes before high noon, the Majority and Minority leaders of the Senate enter the Senate chamber through the rear door. They advance to their respective front row pews, grimace at the agenda piled on their desk tops, then go into an earnest huddle with each other.

I estimate I have watched Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana and Seantor Everett Dirksen of Illinois go through this performance a minimum of 500 times. And it's never failed to fire me with a curiosity that — until the other day — I found no means of extinguishing.

The same kind of curiosity used to assail me every time I went to a racetrack and observed trainers and jockeys huddling in the paddock just before mount up time.

Almost invariably the trainer stood with legs wide apart, swinging a pair of binoculars aiming a monologue at the jockey in what seemed like low, conspiratorial tones. The jock listened intently, nodded his head now and then like a secret agent getting the word to blow up the bridge, and kept shoving his mount's head out of the way to make sure the beast wasn't eavesdropping

There came a day, however, when I did something about this racetrack curiosity. Jimmy Jones, the celebrated trainer of Calumet Farms, okayed me into the paddock. I eyed the trainers slipping the final word to the jockeys, finally alighting on a pair obviously involved in a cabal, if I may borrow from the learned lexicon of former president of Columbia University Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The trainer was swinging his binoculars in a wider arc than anybody else in the paddock, and the jockey was nodding more sinisterly. I sneaked up behind them. My hackles bristled as I overheard the trainer whisper:

"You know now what to do!"

The jockey nodded villainously.

"Don't be squeamish."

The jock nudded even more evilly.

"Rub it on your leg night and morning," said the trainer. "It'll hurt a bit, but don't be squeamish."

The day that former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was to be sworn in as Senator from California I decided to assuage my Senate curiosity too. I stole up behind the twn leaders as they went into their daily huddle. My mind boggled with astonishment when I overheard the Majority Leader ask the Minority Leader:

"What's the program today?"

That's the question the Minority Leader should ask the Majority Leader. The switch in roles obviously betokened something meredibly malevolent. This seemed confirmed when Senator Dirksen flicked at a huge folder on his desk and whispered tersely:

"Salinger."

"What do you propose to do about him?" whispered Senator Mansfield.

"Make a speech challenging his eligibility," replied Senator Dirksen.

Senator Mansfield then assuaged — for all time, I expect — my curiosity about these pre-session huddles.

"Why pick on the portly Pierre?" the Majority Leader asked the Minority Leader. "Can't we compromise on Shirley Temple?"

Red Bloc Split

By Roscoe Drummond

WASHINGTON — The Communist bloc is slowly but irreversibly coming apart at the center.

There are no longer even two capitals of the Communist world — Moscow and Peking. The divisive forces, set in motion by the fierce competition for leadership between Red China and the Soviet Union, have created four Communist blocs and further splintering may well be in the making.

Besides Moscow and its satellites in Eastern Europe and Peking with its satellites in Southeast Asia, there is a bloc of neutralist Communist parties trying to keep out of the line of fire. In India and Japan there are two Communist parties in both countries — one pro-Chinese, one pro-Soviet, each seeking to wrest power from the other. Peking has a satellite, Albania, in Moscow's frontyard in Eastern Europe, and Moscow has a satellite, Outer Mongolia, on Red China's northern border.

We are witnessing an uneasy, uncertain decentralization of Communist leadership, and the new alignments are by no means durable.

It is evident that the relations between Red China and the Soviet Union are steadily deteriorating and are near the point of explosion. It won't be long now before these two Communist "brothers" break their fraternal bonds and openly proclaim that they are dealing with each other in a spirit of hostile, jealous nationalisms competing for world power and prestige at each other's expense.

They are obviously on a collision course with neither room nor intention to turn around. The wreck will probably take place before the year is out.

The break will almost certainly come at the world conference of Communist parties which Premier Khrushchev deems urgent and which he says he will call by November.

Khrushchev sees such a Communist summit as the best means of consolidating Soviet leadership over as wide an area of the bloc as he can expect to get.

Mao Tse-tung sees such a summit as premature and divisive, and wants no part of it — at least not right off.

The truth is that Moscow wants to hurry up and hold the meeting while it still has control of a majority of the Communist parties of the world and Peking wants to stall the meeting as long as possible in the hope it can get control of a majority of the parties before it is held.

Knowing that they can't prevent Moscow from summoning the meeting, the Chinese Communist leaders are taunting Khrushchev with the charge that he can't win whatever he does. They keep saying, in one invective-laden phrase after another, that if Moscow calls the conference, "it will arbitrarily and openly split the international Communist movement," and that if it steps back, "it will be breaking its word and confessing that it backed down and followed the advice of the Chinese."

The Peking radio has never been as strident in its attacks on the Kremlin as it is right now. It gives the impression that China can hardly wait to liberate the Russians from Khrushchev.

Khrushchev wants this world Communist meeting and he wants it quick for two reasons.

One is that Red China has been steadily gaining more authority over more Communist parties in Asia.

The other is that Moscow has been having a hard time holding some of its Eastern European satellites in line. The Eastern European satellites really want to keep the Sino-Soviet feud in being, not end it either by total reconciliation or by total break. Its continuance gives them some leverage with Moscow and a total break would mean that Khrushchev would no longer need to court them.

It needs to be understood that this splintering of the Communist bloc does not come about primarily from deep differences of national self-interest between the Soviet Union — once the undisputed leader of world communism — and Red China, which wants all of Asia, from Japan to India, as its undisputed domain.

Yank, Met Errors

Two sickening events occupied our mind and vision recently. One was the sale of the New York Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System, while the other is the Little League play of the New York Mets, a mismamed major league team.

Fred Corcoran, the agent for anyone who is anything in the sports world brought our attention to the CBS purchase of the Bronx Bombers.

Corcoran, while visiting the Poconos with Tony Lema for his golf exhibition for The General Hospital of Monroe County, noted, "I wouldn't be surprised to see General Mills buy the Twins and make the players put pictures of Puffed Rice on their shirts."

He also commented, "I wonder what U.S. Steel would do if they got control of the Pittsburgh Pirates."

Fans are becoming secondary to baseball, itself. With big business gaining control, nothing is left but to commercialize the commercial product.

With CBS holding the reins and running the show, television (their business) takes over the leadership while the sport Abner Doubleday always thought would be played on a diamond ends up instead on Madison Ave.

The fate of Mets baseball is running out of laughs. No longer do the fans chuckle admiringly about the sad team adorning Shea Stadium.

This club that is supposedly major league caliber is nothing more than Class A ball in a nice new ballpark. No longer do the minor chattels make one error on a play. The Mets are good for two or three on the same maneuver, making them unique in big league uniforms.

Fans dig deep into the personnel of Casey Stengel, with such remarks as, "Hey Kranepohl (the team's reported first baseman), you're the rocklest .200 hitter in baseball."

The Phillies triple play against the Mets was something to behold. In fact it was so well executed that Jack Fisher, the Mets pitcher who was on first base at the start of the triple killing, became so intent watching the maneuver that he became the third out.

Fisher's eyes popped out as the Phils' pitcher grabbed a line drive, turned and threw to second base to get Met Number Two and watched admiringly as the Phils' second baseman tossed to first to get him for the third out.

Met diehards who have been packing the park are taking swipes at Stengel. He isn't the funny man who came to the Polo Grounds a few years back and managed the misfits.

The other night a banner was carried about through Shea's aisles asking for the end of Stengel's reign.

There will be more and more chops at the Mets and Stengel, and fans sooner or later will stop pouring into the longest-run comedy ever to hit the Gotham.

About Town

The town busybody complained to the state banking supervisors that the four officers of her small local bank *were playing cards during of*fice hours instead of tending to business. An examiner was sent to look into the situation. Peeking into a side window, he saw sure enough, the four men wrapped up intently in a poker game while the tellers' windows out front were unattended. Sneaking into the bank he set off the burglar alarm and waited to see what would happen.

A bartender came running out of the tavern across the street with four beers.

The Allen-Scott Report

Where The $ Goes

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Of all the incomprehensible phenomena of the vast foreign aid program, none is more so than the little - known but huge amount of foreign currencies the U. S. is accumulating around the globe.

While President Johnson is baldly exerting every pressure to ram through Congress his $3.5 billion foreign aid budget for the 17th consecutive year of such multi - billion dollar spending, the U.S. now owns almost that much in foreign currencies in scores of beneficiary countries.

According to the Treasury Department's last report, December 31, 1963, the total of these so-called "counterpart funds" was $3,034,997,676 in 87 nations.

Unquestionably, this has appreciably increased in the eight months since then. In 1962, a State Department study indicated that such foreign currency holdings would continue to accumulate at upwards of $500 million a year.

The $3.034 billion total is twice the amount of this country's extimated $1.5 billion balance-of-payments deficit this year. If these counterpart funds could be applied to offset that, a long stride would have been taken to halting the further loss of our vital gold reserves — which have shrunk from $23.252 billion in 1952 to around $15.6 billion.

A remarkable aspect of this *remarkable foreign aid phen*omenon is that the five biggest counterpart fund countries are either Communist or neutralist. Not one is an ally of the U.S. although all have received hundreds of millions of economic and military aid.

Total counterpart funds owned by the U.S. in these five countries are:

India	$1,054,470,759
Poland	447,989,121
Yugoslavia	291,310,399
Egypt	234,816,752
Pakistan	205,146,814

WHERE REST OF MONEY IS —Counterpart funds accumulate as the result of various foreign aid operations and the sale of surplus farm commodities under Public Law 840 — which the buyers pay for in their own currency that remains in their country.

In effect, PL 480 transactions are give-aways. That's their overwhelming record on the government's books.

The use of counterpart funds is hedged with a variety of restrictions. Mainly they are drawn on for the construction and to some extent the maintenance of U.S. embassies, the financing of congressional and other junkets, for training military and civilian specialists and assorted other activities in these countries.

Of the 87 countries in which the U.S. owns local currencies, in 27 the total is in excess of $10 million. In 21 others, the amount runs between $1 and $10 million. In the remainder, the sums are less than $1 million.

In strife-torn Cyprus, the U.S. owns $951,715 in local currency.

The top list of 27 ranging from $1,054,470,759 in India to $11,014,685 in Nepal, excluding the first five is as follows:

Brazil	$88,903,428
Turkey	86,010,937
Israel	73,051,496
Korea	46,454,913
China	45,588,473
Burma	37,214,114
Indonesia	33,181,692
Japan	30,720,722
Spain	30,082,268
Viet Nam	25,713,570
Syria	23,851,497
Great Britain	22,091,257
Philippines	21,678,399
Greece	20,591,204
Morocco	16,717,943
Tunisia	16,306,935
France	16,235,718
Ceylon	15,502,793
West Germany	14,012,732
Congo	11,740,876
Iran	11,607,871
Nepal	11,014,685

Among the countries in which the U.S. has smaller amounts of local currency are notably Guinea with $9,948,293, Mexico $4,321,534, Hong Kong $2,257,841, Belgium $2,046,895, Lebanon $1,545,420, Iceland $1,457,545.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES — If you've wondered exactly what foreign aid funds are spent for, the following uplifting projects brought to light during the Senate battle played an important role in slashing some $250 million from the President's budget — despite his strenuous pressure:

—$1,489,000 for "improvement of national government administration in Indonesia"—whose Communist - leaning President Sukarno not long ago publicly declared, "To hell with U. S. aid."

—$1,481,00 for "civil aviation development" in Syria, anti-Western and particularly hostile to the U.S.

—$160,000 for "advanced office procedures training" in Uganda.

—$265,00 for "book publishing" in Nigeria.

—$135,000 for "rural slaughter sheds" in Chad

—$1,641,00 for "highway maintenance" in Jordan, now busily playing footsie with Egypt's neutralist dictator Gamal Nasser.

—$200,000 for "improvement of crop and livestock production" in Egypt.

—$463,000 for "civil police and public safety" in Libya.

—$756,000 for a "mapping and geographical institute" in Ethiopia.

—$800,000 for "colonization" in Bolivia.

During the Senate debate, Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., spearheading the drive to cut the President's budget, disclosed that there is some $6.2 billion in the "foreign aid pipeline;" that is, unspent but obligated funds.

Dear Abby

Be Subtle But Be Firm

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A very advanced 12-year-old neighbor girl has been telling my 8-year-old son about the birds and the bees.

I don't know quite how to handle this because the girl's mother and I are very good friends. It has been handy to ask this girl to look after my son for a few hours after school, or on Saturday afternoons, but lately every time she has been with him he seems to have learned something new on the subject.

Our boy never had any curiosity at all about things like that until this girl put those ideas in his head. Is there a tactful way to put a stop to it?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: How, and from whom, a child learns about the birds and bees has a significant bearing on his later sex attitudes, so don't treat this lightly.

Have the girl's mother tell her daughter that the "facts of life" are for "older" children (say about 12) and since younger boys and girls (say around 8) might not understand, their questions should be referred to their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has been on a diet for as long as I have known her.

Whenever we are dining out, she won't think of ordering anything fattening; but just let someone else order it and, the moment it comes, she'll punge her fork into his food, or sink her spoon into his dessert.

"Shades of trench mouth," it's getting me down. I despise this practice and hinted until I'm blue in the face, but nothing stops ..... at would you suggest?

VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM: Be prepared! ..When you order, ask for a small service plate and give her a "taste" before she attacks.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "ALLERGIC TO ROSES" amused me because we also had neighbors who disturbed us with an extremely loud stereo or hi fi set. We just turned our record player on as loud as we could, and played that old song, "YOU, YOU'RE DRIVING ME CRAZY" over and over again. They got the hint and we've been good friends ever since.

MRS. B. IN PIEDMONT

CONFIDENTIAL TO THERESA: No one is quite so disillusioned as the girl who married because she was tired of working.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Control Of Tuberculosis

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The shame and stigma of tuberculosis have almost entirely disappeared.

But contrary to the general impression, tuberculosis itself has not disappeared and still persists as a serious threat to health of our people in every community in the nation.

The social embarrassment that once accompanied tuberculosis made the disease a "skeleton in the family closet." Prior to the turn of the century, tuberculosis was always associated with the undernourished and the underprivileged.

Public Health officials have been conducting intensive educational programs that have induced people to bring to light all cases of TB for earlier treatment and earlier cure.

Steady Decline

Because of these mature health programs, and because of the newer, more effective methods of treatment, there has been a steady decline in the severity and frequency of the disease. Cases brought to the early attention of the physician have been bombarded with modern-day sulfa and antibiotics. Routine X-rays of the chest performed with minimal radiation uncover hidden cases of TB and give the patient his best chance for complete health.

Almost 90 per cent of all cases of tuberculosis, recognized early and treated vigorously, can recover from the disease.

These encouraging statistics must not be misinterpreted so that anyone develops the false *sense of security that tubercu*losis no longer exists.

To be cured, TB must be recognized.

To be recognized, routine X-rays of the chest at periodic intervals are essential. No one need be deprived of this examination. Mobile X-ray units and Board of Health facilities blanket our nation offering free examinations.

READERS' RELATED QUESTIONS

Is tuberculosis hereditary?

The disease itself is not hereditary. However, it is a contagious disease and therefore can readily be passed on from one member of the family to another, when living in close quarters without proper safeguards.

Is there a skin test for tuberculosis?

There are tuberculin skin patch tests and the Mantoux test (by injection). The reactions to these tests are important to the doctor only. Children very often have "positive" tuberculin reactions that should not be a source of special anxiety.

Further Tests

Follow-up X-rays and sputum examinations determine whether the disease is active or healed.

These tests are easily and painlessly performed and can not themselves produce tuberculosis.

How can tuberculosis be prevented?

Slum clearances, avoidance of contact with known cases of TB, pasteurization of milk, periodic health check-ups and X-rays, especially for those with chronic cough and loss of weight . . . these are the most *important factors in the pre*vention of tuberculosis.

Young Turk

Until 1909 Turkey was an absolute monarchy, ruled by a sultan whose will was supreme in the land.

For a number of years a political party composed chiefly of younger men had been growing in Turkey. This party was known as the Young Turks, and its aim was to bring about reforms.

In 1909, the Young Turks forced the sultan to give up the throne to his brother. In the process the Young Turks brought about some reforms, though not as many as they had promised.

In allusion to the Turkish party, a member of a radi*cal group of young men* is called a "Young Turk."

Local Lions Project

Conqueror Club Blind's Friend

By Stan Schaffer
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — If you suddenly became blind today where would you turn for help?

Well, you might seek the help and guidance of the Conqueror's Club. This unique group of about 25 persons was organized in February of 1963 by Stroudsburg optometrist Dr. Gail C. Fegley, with the assistance of the Stroudsburg Lions Club.

Dr. Fegley, Blind Committee Chairman of the Stroudsburg Lions Club, said: "Blind people should not be thought of as a vegetable — or something that is of no value anymore. The Conquerors have proven they can enjoy life and be useful. Many of them can earn a living and some of them teach class.

Rich In Fellowship

"In fact," he went on "you have to see the friendliness and fellowship ...at exists to believe it. They ... to be more jolly, joyous and congenial than sighted people," he exclaimed.

Dr. Fegley explained that the club is a non-profit organization which is sponsored by the Lions Club. The group meets every two weeks in the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. office at 753 Phillips St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Betty Noack acts as hostess for the meetings. She prepares coffee and other refreshments for the members. The Lions Club meets at the same time the Conquerors meet. Therefore, the Lions can chauffeur the blind to and from meetings.

"Our primary objective is to provide 'Social Rehabilitation for the Blind' through the club," Dr. Fegley said.

The Conqueror's Club was organized through an idea supplied in the Talking Lion newsletter. Several Lions wanted to help the sightless, since there were no local agencies — only the local office of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance (DPA) and the regional office in Wilkes-Barre. It was noted that each regional office DPA representative has a seven-county area to cover.

"The local office of the DPA provides for the pension and vocational rehabilitation of the sightless," Dr. Fegley said.

Dr. Fegley explained how the pension plan for the blind works and one of the unique features which the Lions utilized for sightless persons.

Outlines Plan

The Pension is obtained by first contacting the local DPA blind office which in turn contacts the regional office of the DPA in Wilkes-Barre. Then Charles Bronski who is also blind visits the handicapped person to determine vocational aptitudes and abilities.

"Because of the vast area and responsibility, it is not always possible for representatives to visit everyone on a close regular basis and provide social rehabilitation," Dr. Fegley said.

"They can only provide the necessary instruction such as walking with a cane or how to cross streets," he added.

Meanwhile, the blind persons pension application is forwarded to Dr. Norman Yoder, head of the Pennsylvania Department of Blind in Harrisburg, where it is reviewed. Pending on the diagnosis of the blind office and an eye doctor, a $75 per month pension is alloted.

Second Visit

Then, Edward Angelis, another area representative, visits the blind person and provides some information concerning the individual's rehabilitation. Angelis travels with the aid of a seeing eye dog and cane.

He inquires about the person's desire to read through the use of Braille. (A method of reading used by the bind in which the characters are read through the use of raised dots). If the blind person desires to be taught Braille, he will teach them. He also provides home economics safety hints for blind women.

Dr. Fegley explained some of the case histories where people have been helped through the use of social rehabilitation.

— Oscar Metzgar of East Stroudsburg was taught how to call his son on the telephone. He was really thrilled about this.

— Mrs. Miles Green of Stroudsburg who was going blind, taught herself and prepared for the life in darkness. She taught herself how to read and write.

Needed Gloves

— Mrs. Thomas Edson, 43, of 417 Normal St., East Stroudsburg learned how to read Braille. "In fact," Dr. Fegley said, "she read the book "Gone With The Wind" in Braille. Her fingers became so sore that she had to wear gloves to finish reading the book."

— Otto Herman of Columbia, N.J., attends the meetings and provides pastries and other home baked goods.

— John Lipyanic of Saylorsburg who is blind has a family of nine children. He works outside of New Philadelphia which is near Pottstown. "The crux in his situation was," Dr. Fegley continued, "whether or not he should give up the blind pension or work at the vocation he was taught at the blind workshop. He needs a guaranteed salary."

— Mrs. Frank Fuller of 701 Thomas St., Stroudsburg had cataracts on the eyes — an operation proved successful and she could see well. However, she could not recognize previous acquaintances by sight. She became all mixed up. She only knew her sightless friends by the sound of their voices.

"We helped her know them by sight through the use of group discussion," Dr. Fegley said.

The fallacy that all blind persons are old is not found. About 20 per cent of the 65 blind persons living in Monroe County are under age 65 and earn a living.

Dr. Fegley pointed out that some members of the club also bowl. He said that Carl J. Kohl of Colonial Bowling Lanes in Stroudsburg has one of his alleys designed with a special portable railing which aids the blind person in bowling. The club members are now organizing a competitive bowling team for intra-community competition.

Blind Campers Lodge

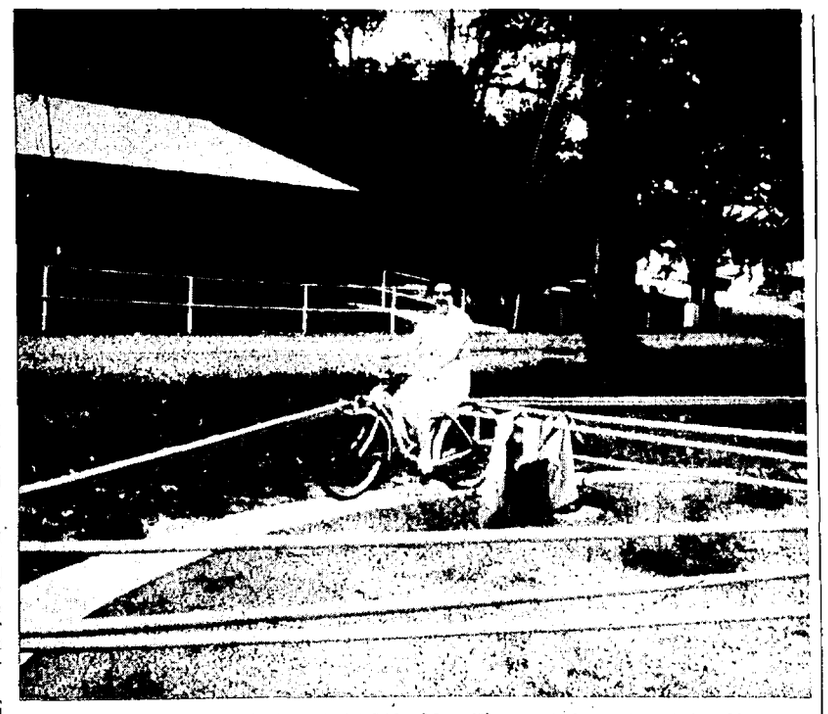
The Beacon Lodge near Lewistown, Pa., is sponsored by the Lions Clubs of Pennsylvania and is solely for the blind. "Any one of the Lions Clubs is allowed to send several blind persons to the camp during the summer for a period of one to four weeks at a very reasonable cost," Dr. Fegley said.

Also, there is a well-trained staff of young counselors who see to the needs of all camp residents. Carl Shoemaker, founder and head of the camp, is also sightless.

The camp includes all types of physical as well as passive activities for the campers. There is swimming, boating, bicycling, walking, bowling, handicrafts, dancing and music. A group of the blind musicians provide dance music.

A unique feature of the camp is the fact that it is designed with rails which mark all the roads and areas leading to and from the recreation areas. This enables the blind person to move about without help. For with these special railings, they can feel where they are going.

So, the vanquished become — the Conquerors.



BLIND BICYCLING AT BEACON—Mrs. Thomas Edson, 43, of 417 Normal St., East Stroudsburg is shown bicycling at the Beacon Lodge Camp for the blind at Lewistown, Pa. She is riding on the special designed bike which is controlled by rigging. In the background the railings which guide the blind to and from the recreation areas are visible.

Appeal Filed On Roseto JP's Action

ROSETO — Harold Nerino of 110 Grant St. in Easton has filed an appeal in Northampton County Court against the action of a Roseto justice of the peace who issued a judgment against him.

The appeal asserts that Peter Sebastianelli of 807 Garibaldi Ave. in Roseto, caused Justice of the Peace Louis Martocci in Roseto to issue an execution of judgment against Nerino for work to be done under a contract.

Nerino, a former resident of the Slate Belt, states the execution was commenced some 18 months after a summons was issued and without written notice of execution. He further claims the justice of the peace was taken without benefit of a hearing despite filing of an affidavit of defense by Nerino through Alderman Pat J. Maragulia of Easton.

Judge Clinton Budd Palmer issued a rule to show cause why an appeal in the matter should not be granted.

Attorney Charles H. Spaziani represents Nerino.

Seven Monroe Students Taking Penn State Courses

UNIVERSITY PARK — Seven Monroe County students at branch campuses of the Pennsylvania State University are enrolled at University Park during the summer term in an intensive three-week program of study.

They are Frederick M. Bizousky of Brodheadsville; William R. Possinger of 507 Shubart Rd., East Stroudsburg; Wayne P. Mazur of Henryville; Kenneth L. Anewalt of Kresgeville; Larry G. Flick of Sciota; Douglas M. Baker of Stroudsburg RD 1; and Edward R. Nevil of 721 Monroe St., Stroudsburg.

Anewalt attends the Wilkes-Barre branch of the Pennsylvania State University, while the other local students attend the Allentown branch.

They are part of a group of 700 students from 14 branch campuses of the school who are taking the three-week program. The group consists of students entering their second year of two-year technical programs leading to an associate degree.

The summer program is an integral part of their training and students will return to their local branch campuses this fall for their last year of study.

Stroud Firemen Snuff Car Blaze

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Twp. Volunteer firemen were called at 2:55 p.m. yesterday to extinguish a car fire on Stokes Mill Rd. about a quarter of a mile south of the bridge near the Moose Park.

The fire was out before firemen arrived. It was believed caused by a faulty ignition wiring or a backfire. Minor damage to the wiring and carburetor was reported.

The car was owned by Lloyd Titus of 587 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg. His son, Donald was operating the car when the fire occurred.

Local Demos Meet Tonight

STROUDSBURG — President Donald James yesterday announced that the regular meeting of the Democratic Club of the Stroudsburgs will be today at 8 p.m. at the Monroe Security Bank and Trust Company building, Crystal St., East Stroudsburg.

Cy Barrett Says

Think Before Acting

DEAR CY:

Like others who write to you, I have an important problem. I'm an industrial worker, 49 years old, and have worked at my trade for 25 years. I have 12 years' seniority where I now work. My wife is very unhappy living here and is urging me to get a job elsewhere.

Lately, I have been investigating opportunities in the U.S. Civil Service and have noticed several openings for my line of work in the South Atlantic states where she wants to move.

I may file an application but am haunted by the thought of throwing away the seniority built up here. What arguments can you think of against a man of my age entering the civil service?

HILLS

DEAR HILLS:

It is always profoundly disturbing to hear of a person your age tossing up a job and seniority. I can name no single instance where such a move proved to be other than tragic. Usually, however, the departure is contemplated on the basis of conflicts on the job but the result is the same.

Be aware: In beginning with the civil service, you have no iron-clad job location choice. Although you are given a geographical preference, the federal government cannot guarantee to please your wife. She should take a new glance at the community and what she is contributing to it. Is it possible she couldn't be in harmony anywhere?

P.S. Readers tell me that although qualified for a civil service job, they may wait years before being taken into the club . . . if at all.

CY

DEAR CY:

I took a recent nightclub closing as a personal loss. The place was in business for over 25 years, and it was where I got my taste of night life on the grand scale. With expense accounts of his customers reduced, he lost everything. Forty-two employees were let go. I was thinking of going into the field but this puts a damper on my ambitions.

EDGAR

DEAR EDGAR:

During any five-year period, the nightclub business entertains as many ups and downs as kicks in the chorus line. The risk is high and, unlike the customers, is always present. Despite the demise of the cabaret you mention, nightclub business is up in a wholesale way.

Sales last year were 70 per cent above 1952 and reached almost $400 million. It could be the bankrupt night spotter lost out because of his declining health. Perhaps he was reluctant to change with the scenery. Today most spots find they must obtain party and group business to maintain solvency.

Without luncheons, anniversary celebrations, fashion shows, wedding receptions, many of our flourishing cabarets would join your lamented friend.

CY

DEAR CY:

We operate a custom corset studio. What makes me furious is not the topless swimsuits but the publicity the strippers and models who wear them one time enjoy. Our shop could use publicity for our custom corsets and it's not easy to get.

We don't believe in publicity for the sake of publicity. The government ought to control general specifications for women's swimsuits be federal law and throw those who break the rules in jail.

MADGE D.

DEAR MADGE:

Be happy you are engaged in free American corset enterprise and earn your own publicity. Communist China recently outlawed tapered legs on women's slacks. Think of the suffering of both sexes if the United States government made corsets unlawful.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, August 18, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Prepare your schedule carefully, and be as diligent in carrying out orders, as you would expect others to be. Shun emotionalism, hassles.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Withdraw from a situation when you are sure your efforts are not effective and/or someone else should have the position. Fair play for all will net top rewards.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your efforts now MUST have sound, intelligent purpose or havoc will reign. Acuteness, mobility of thought will help you to quicker, safer conclusions. Aim to improve in the "little" things.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Listen thoughtfully to comments, dictates, but do not answer abruptly or make hasty decisions and, in OUT.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Observe advice to Cancer, and add: do not base acts on whims or fancies. Avoid procrastination, too.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mixed influences. Do not get into controversy that would only lead to chaos, but do discuss calmly, reason out methods, work routine. Be quick, avoid the contention that is pretty general now.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Some jolts possible. Let your sense of proportion and discerning judgment guide you. Using these traits, you should arrive at satisfactory conclusions.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — If on time and determined to get your chores and obligations tended post-haste and with better effort than ever before, you will have top returns.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Nothing will be entirely easy, but there are many benefits, new favors awaiting conscientious and consistent endeavor. Work for improved changes.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Be slow to criticize — an inclination now. But recognize defects and aim constructively to cooperate with those trying to alter undesirable situations.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Tact and finesse should help you attain ends you could not achieve with force. Shun rumors, seek truths. Use your many talents ably.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Be hasty in neither word nor deed now, or you could regret it. Day has pitfalls which will be seen by those of you who LOOK and LISTEN.

YOU BORN TODAY are able and usually eager. You like a good time and friends around enjoying the same. In fact, you tend to extremes in this; also in spending energies unwisely when emotion dictates. The Leoite is noted for intelligent curiosity, ability to rise above hindering or undesirable circumstances, pride in family and ownership, courtesy and fair play. But you can be the "bull in the china shop" when angry. For the sake of your own happiness and that of others, you must learn patience and self-control. Birthdate of: Lewis Meriwether, explorer.

Washington Report

Sugar Dispute Shifts Move To Domestic Industry

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — An end-of-the-session fight over sugar legislation is again brewing in Congress. This time, however, the terms of the dispute are different. A feud in the domestic sugar industry had replaced the familiar scramble among foreign sugar suppliers.

The legislation establishing the quotas of sugar which may be sent to the United States by foreign nations expires at the end of this year. The allocations to domesic sugar cane and sugar beets growers will remain in effect until 1966.

Representatives of the beet sugar industry are making a determined fight to raise the domestic quotas this year. Their larger share would come out of the "blogal quota" reserved for Cuba, if and when her relations with the United States improve. the "global quota" reserved for by other foreign nations mainly Latin American, on a first-come first-served basis.

The beet sugar interests are strongly opposed by representatives of U.S. cane refining companies, who refine the imported foreign sugar and the relatively small amount of cane sugar grown in the United States. Cane Sugar and beet sugar are indistinguishable as finished products, but cane refineries cannot process beet sugar.

This year's fight is different from past ones because the various domestic interests—beet growers and processors (who are usually located side by side), domestic cane growers, and cane refiners — have usually been able to work out among themselves an advance agreement dividing up the Government - controlled sugar supply.

Past Congressional disputes usually focused on allocation among foreign suppliers of the amount to be imported. These allocations are not in dispute this year.

Beet growers and processors are located in about 27 states, a distribution which gives them many voices in Congress. Most of the beet growers and processors are located west of the Mississippi River. There are 16 major cane refining corporations, most of them on the East Coast. Both groups have active lobby organizations.

Forces In Congress

The number of representatives which beet producers have in Congress is largely offset by the fact that the cane refiners are supported by Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.), influential chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. Also, many Senators on the Senate Finance Committee (which handles sugar legislation in the Senate because it involves imports) are more concerned with the foreign relations aspects of sugar policy than with providing more business for domestic producers.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

As weekends go, it was a relatively quiet one with only five people and one dog added to the menage. Even as days go, it was peaceful after two big concerts, Tony Lema Day and the Craftsman's show all in one week.

Thinking back over the big events, I found a few nuggets left over. Like the Junior Woman's Club ushers in Tuesday rained-out concert turned out to have been not so worried about their brand-new dresses as their brand-new hair-dos which had to last through the next night's concerts. They had other dresses but they didn't have time to have their hair set again.

Glen Brook women, reminiscing about the golf matches were pretty proud of the course, despite number 15 and 17 greens which had made a partial comeback; of the way the match was handled; of their pro; and also of the assistant pro. Johnny Kupice handled the microphone like a veteran. He not only has an excellent voice, and an easy manner, but he also stuck strictly to the matter at hand without getting coy or cute, which is a reaction a microphone has on so many of us.

Speaking of reactions, I always feel a little ashamed when somebody accuses me of being "brave'. It is not courage which leaves me so relaxed about going to a deserted house or starting out in the middle of the night for distant points, or being alone practically anywhere. It's just that I get so pre-occupied with what I'm doing or where I'm going that I don't stop to think.

Physicial fear is one thing. Fear of being hurt emotionally is something else again, and there I am an arrant coward. For nine months I have had boxes and boxes of half-burnt pictures which the children had rescued from the ruins, and spent painful hours soaking apart. And at no time; not during the long night reaches when I spend the hours with mystery stories or crossword puzzles, nor during the quiet mornings without housework or other pressing problems, could I make myself tackle the job that had to be done sometime.

However on a quiet Sunday at the river, surrounded by family who could remember just how it was when the pictures were living, breathing people, I did it. The funny thing is how much better most of the pictures were when the burned background had been chopped away, and how beautiful everybody used to be.

At any rate, eight boxes have been condensed to one small one, and I'm as proud of myself as if I'd climbed Mount Everest, shot a charging rhinoceros, dived off the high board, or killed a copperhead. Who's afraid? Not me—until the next time I have to meet my secret self in the dark.

Cherry Lane Playhouse Produces a Real Wedding

Swiftwater—Opera singer Alexandra Hunt was married to Rea Hooker, producer at Cherry Lane Playhouse, near Tannersville, in ceremonies Monday conducted by the Rev. Harold Cenker at the Antlers, Swiftwater.

The former Miss Hunt, who appears as "The Merry Widow" in Cherry Lane's opener this season, was born in Omaha and was graduated from the Juilliard School of Music.

A national finalist this year in the Metropolitan Opera auditions, she is currently appearing in "Sound of Music" at the Cape Cod Melody Tent.

David Toms was best man for Hooker. Guests were Carol Cartwright, Joan Toms and Lloyd and Rita Peak.

War I Aux. Praised For Hospital Work

East Stroudsburg — The work of the Auxiliary 2230, World War I Veterans among the patients at the Veterans Hospital in Wilkes-Barre was praised as the best of all the auxiliaries at the convention held in Wilkes-Barre in July.

Mrs. Rose Geiger gave a report of the convention at the meeting of the local auxiliary held at the Legion Home in East Stroudsburg. Mrs. Georgia Albertson, president, reported on the carnival at Wilkes-Barre VA Hospital, thanking all those who had helped make it a success.

She told how much the men look forward to the carnival and expressed the hope that the local work could be even more expanded.

At the September meeting plans will be completed for the picnic to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geiger.

Refreshments were served to both the members of the auxiliary and the men of the post.

Stitch-Chatter Club To Attend 4-H Round Up

Barrett — Members of the Stitch and Chatter 4-H Club plan to attend the County 4-H Round-up to be held today at the YMCA in Stroudsburg. The girls may use the gym and the pool while their exhibits are being judged.

At their final meeting at the home of Mrs. Naomi Reisenwitz, the girls held their own informal fashion show, modeling the skirts and shifts they have made this summer. The mothers expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Reisenwitz for serving as local leader to the group.

Church Council Meets Thursday

Kresgeville — The last picnic of the Albrightsville area will be sponsored by the Lutheran Church in the church grove on Saturday night, Aug. 22, with the Parryville Band furnishing the music.

A special meeting of the Salem - St. Paul Church Council will be held at the parsonage in Gilbert on Thursday, Aug. 20.

Carnival Over, Fire Co. Aux. Plans Fair Trip

Mount Pocono — The Mount Pocono Fire Company at their recent meeting in the Fire Hall, heard reports of a successful carnival.

Mrs. Robert Besecker, who presided, named a nomination committee including Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. William Wright and Mrs. Francis O'Boyle.

She also appointed the refreshment committee for the September meeting, which includes Mrs. John Kuhn, Mrs. Richard Lee, Mrs. Richard Lutz, Mrs. Alvin MacWilliams, Mrs. Frank Manieri, Mrs. Wardel Megargel.

Mrs. George Bean announced that there are still reservations open for the trip to the World's Fair, Wednesday, Sept. 23. Any woman in the area who would like to join with the Auxiliary may do so by calling Mrs. George Bean for reservations.

A social of games followed by refreshments served by Mrs. E. O. Headrick, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Louis Hopke, Mrs. Patrick Horgan, concluded the meeting.

Happy is the Hobbyist With Time and Pastime

By Roberta Roesch

Sometime ago we discussed in this space ideas for starting hobbies, and since then many letters have come telling us all about our readers' pastimes.

We're glad to get your letters, too, and hear of the hobbies you have taken to now that many of you are finding your work week shorter and your leisure time longer.

Time To Fill

Many folks may be looking for new ways to fill that spare time, so here are a few ideas for hobbies that some of our readers enjoy.

From Jacksonville, Fla.: "I've just finished reading your column on the extra touches a hobby provides so I decided to write you right away to tell you about the one I've been pursuing for the past 20 years. I've had many happy hours from it and have never known anyone else who had the same hobby.

"Through the years, I have been collecting humorous material and compiling it into scrapbooks. At this point, I have several volumes and another is filling up rapidly.

Now A Departure

"The new book, however, is something of a departure from the previous ones in that I now include on each page one or two carefully selected humorous cartoons.

"To make the volumes attractive and really worthwhile references, I plan the layout of each page extremely carefully and pick only quips, repartees, jokes and anecdotes that are brief enough for me to remember when I'm at a party or it's my turn to top another's story."

A Ringing Pastime

From Glens Falls, N.Y.: Some of your readers who are grandmothers might like to try my bell-collecting hobby which started with gifts from my grandchildren.

"Several years ago several of them complained they never knew what to buy 'Grandma' for Christmas and birthdays. At the time, I was planning a large dinner party and needed a bell for the table, so I said without really thinking: 'Someone can give me a bell.' That chance remark started years of pleasure — since everyone has turned up with a bell!

"In the batch of gifts, some of the bells were so interesting that my curiosity soon took over and led me to the library to dig up facts on bells. Then that first dab of research started me going, although it showed me there was more to be learned about bells than I could ever absorb in a lifetime.

"I also learned from some of the literature I read that many people collect bells and belong to a bell association that meets every year. With that information I was rung in completely and I've collected bells and new friends ever since that time."

She Collected Laughs For Her Own And Friends' Amusement.

Keystoners' Stones

From Harrisburg, Pa.: "My wife and I are rockhounds, and we recommend this to everyone looking for a hobby that's exciting. In our case, we can hardly wait for the work week to go by so we can get on with our weekend rock-collecting.

"During the week, we use our spare time to cut rocks into gems, arrange them at shows and talk to other rockhounds. We're having a wonderful time!"

A hearty thanks to all readers who have shared their hobbies with us. We'll print more letters as we can, so let us know what you do!

Monroe Garden Club Schedules State Leader As Speaker at Camelback

Tannersville—Mrs. Maxwell C. Steel, civic improvement chairman of the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club on Thursday at 2 p. m. at Camelback Ski Lodge, Big Pocono.

Mrs. Steel has served in many capacities including state president, 1956-58, and as chairman of the national scholarship, personnel and national convention committees. She has received three citations from the Federation for outstanding work, and serves as lecturer at the School of Landscape Design in Philadelphia, and vice president of the Pennsylvania Roadside Council.

A resident of Huntingdon, her many community activities have earned her the Distinguished Service Award for Farm-City Week from Kiwanis International; was named the Mother-of-the-year in 1948, and the most civic minded woman of Huntingdon in 1963.

It was through Mrs. Steel that the Monroe County Garden Club received the Sears Grant for the Laurel Manor planting. The planting will begin this Fall.

Mrs. Steel's subject will be "Garden, Home and Community."

A large attendance is expected for the meeting. Will be admitted without fee by presenting their membership cards. If they are bringing guests they are asked to call Mrs. Edwin Treible for advance information about the fee to be charged.

Those needing transportation or who have room to take others are asked to call the transportation chairman, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz.

The business session will be kept brief to allow time for the program and for a ride on the ski lift or the view from Big Pocono for those who wish to do either.

Refreshments will be served at 3:45 by the hospitality committee of which Mrs. Thomas Shoesmith is chairman.

Hadassah Rumage Sale

East Stroudsburg — A rummage sale is being held this week through Friday by the Stroudsburg Chapter of Hadassah at 75 Washington St., next to the East Stroudsburg State Liquor Store from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Saylorsburg — The Pollyannas of Mount Eaton Church, Saylorsburg, are sponsoring a Hat-O-Rama on Sept. 17 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the fire hall in Saylorsburg.

Any profits will be used to purchase Bibles to present to children of the church school on their 12th birthdays and for the support of a Korean Boy the club is sponsoring.

There will be a door prize and refreshments.

New President Presides At VFW Aux. Meet

Stroudsburg — The Ladies Aux. of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2540 met recently with the new president, Iva Adams, presiding.

A report of the convention in Pittsburgh was given when awards were presented to Martha Savercool, Georgia Albertson and Katherine Strunk.

A donation was made to the Lebanon Hospital Field Day, and attendance prizes were won by Grace Shook and Kay Strunk.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 14.

Roseto Legion Aux. Reelects All Officers

Roseto — The present officers of the ladies auxiliary of Martocci-Capobianco Post 750, American Legion, Roseto, were all re-elected at a meeting Thursday night.

Mrs. Elma Tilli is president; Mrs. Constance Zito, vice president; Mrs. Josephine Sabatine, secretary; Mrs. Sarah Ronca, treasurer; Mrs. Jennie Zito, historian; Mrs. Mamie Romano, chaplain, and Mrs. Anna Cacciacarro, sergeant at arms. An installation ceremony will be held Sept. 26.

Chairmen of committees for 1964-65 were announced by Mrs. Tilli. They are Mrs. Anna Cacciacarro, membership; Mrs. Tilli, unit activities and civil defense; Mrs. Constance ...to, rehabilitation; Mrs. Josephine Sabatine, Americanism and music; Mrs. Gladys Liberto, child welfare and legislation; Mrs. Jennie Zito, Pan Americanism; Mrs. Sarah Ronca, education and scholarship and community service; Mrs. Mary C. Ruggiero, coupons; Mrs. Angelina Sabatine, national security; Mrs. Mamie Romano, constitution and bylaws, and Miss Josephine Farace, press publication.

Named to the social committee for the September meeting were Mrs. Concetta Carcione, Mrs. Josephine Capobianco, Mrs. Carmel DeLeslo, Mrs. Lizzie Donatelli and Mrs. Gladys Liberto.

It was announced that anyone having hospital equipment which is not being used should contact Mrs. Sarah Ronca.

Mrs. Josephine Sabatine gave a report on the Four County Council meeting held in East Stroudsburg in June.

The auxiliary will serve a banquet to the Midcastern Borough Officials Assn. in Roseto Sept. 24.

Local Girl Scout Reports On All-States Encampment

By Brenda Bess
Scranton Pocono Girl Scout Council Representative

Twin Lakes, Mich. (Special to The Daily Record)—I arrived in the Girl Scouts' All States Encampment at Camp Tocanja on Saturday, Aug. 8, to find the weather in Michigan very cold. We were divided into five troops.

I am in Troop 3 which is composed of 32 girls. We were then divided into four patrols. I was elected treasurer for the troop and life guard for my patrol.

The most exciting part is meeting girls from all over the United States. At first it was a lot of fun listening to all of the different accents and trying to guess where their homes were. Now everyone is picking up everyone else's accent and it is one big mess.

The project to which I was assigned is "Preparing Leaders for Days in the Out-of-Doors." We are now in training because the second week we are going to be teaching leaders and other women who are going to become leaders.

Guests Surprise Hostess With Own Shower

Pocono — Mrs. Charles Knecht planned a birthday party for her husband and planned to pick up some of the guests. When she returned, she was surprised to find that friends were also having a baby shower for her.

They had decorated the living room, and a stork hovered over a table filled with baby gifts. On another table were three cakes and birthday gifts. Music was furnished by Madalyn Gower, James Knecht and Lee Bellis who played guitars and sang.

Alberta Gardner and Jean Fisher were hostesses. Both Mr. and Mrs. Knecht received gifts. Refreshments were served to:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knecht Sr., Mrs. Sadie Keiper, Cathy Knecht, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner and daughter of Long Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knecht Jr. and sons, Dale and Donny and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fisher of Pocono Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller and children, Carol and Jimmy of Mount Pocono.

Mrs. James Knecht, Mrs. Lee Bellis of Swiftwater, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark of Kresgeville, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Gower and son, Gary of Hatboro, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knecht and son, Richard of Brodheadsville, and the guests of honor.

Blast Victims Receive Gifts For New Home

Bushkill — A household party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ace of Bushkill, for Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hendericks who lost their home furnishings in the Marshalls Creek explosion.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

I can't remember when I have enjoyed anything more than Wednesday evening's concert of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra on the grounds of Shawnee Inn. There we were, thousands of us, gathered together in a friendly congeniality and intimacy that was warming and delightful despite an occasional chill breeze. Up above, a new moon gleamed so perfectly it seemed to have been painted or pasted against the star-filled sky . . . and there was something ethereal about the fiber glass shell which seemed to have been partially split away to reveal a pearl of rare splendor—an assembly of many of the world's finest musicians and their gleaming, precious instruments.

An occasional airplane, flying low; the noisy crickets and tree toads; the lights of cars just across the river, all were part of the wizardry and magic of an unforgettable experience. And the music! Who can describe its powder, and grandeur, and glory? It lifted one into another world much more surely than our man-made rockets have ever been propelled toward outer space.

To climax all of this with a visit to Shawnee Inn, and a view of the "Profiles in Art" show so stunningly hung against chalk white and blue, blue walls was almost like filling a cup of cheer a mite too full, yet revealing in each delicious taste. After all this, it was almost too much to meet Maestro Ormandy himself on the veranda, where he chatted with Fred and Virginia Waring. In appearance he is a delightful, genial pixie; on the podium he is an awesome giant; a genius quite apart from ordinary mortals. Eugene Ormandy's baton is a fairy godmother's wand that makes very special people of us all! We do hope the applause and bravos . . . the smiles and handclasps . . . the written words of praise and the stares of those too shy to approach him, prove to Mr. Ormandy that we are truly appreciative of the rare gift he shares so generously with others.

Phillies Increase Lead To 5 Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies struck for five runs in the second inning and went on to defeat the Chicago Cubs 8-1 Monday night behind Chris Short's five-hit pitching, building their National League lead to five games.

The victory gave the Phillies their largest lead of the season over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were not scheduled.

Short, reaching the 12-victory mark for the first time in his five-year major league career, struck out nine and walked three, pitching out of three tight jams while protecting the lead the Phillies built in the early innings.

The Phillies sent 10 men to the plate in the second inning with Frank Thomas starting the uprising with a single off Ernie Broglio.

A passed ball, Tony Taylor's single, a walk and a force play got Thomas home. An error by Joey Alfitano on Tony Gonzalez's doubleplay grounder allowed another run before John Callison lashed a two-run triple. Callison scored on Clay Dalrymple's single.

Chisox Edge Yanks

CHICAGO (AP) — Knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm cut off a New York rally with the lying run on second base and one out in the eighth inning, protecting the Chicago White Sox' 2-1 victory over the Yankees Monday night in the opener of a crucial series between the American League pennant hopefuls.

The victory lifted the second-place White Sox to within 1½ games of first-place Baltimore and dropped the Yankees three games off the pace. The Orioles were not scheduled.

Wilhelm came on after Juan Pizarro, who had a two-hit shutout for seven innings, was touched for a run on a single by Clete Boyer, a walk to Phil Linz and a single by Bobby Richardson.

Fans Maris

With Linz on second and one out, Wilhelm struck out Roger Maris and got Elston Howard to tap an easy grounder to third baseman Pete Ward.

The White Sox scored what turned out to be the deciding run in the seventh inning when the Yankees muffed an attempted pickoff play.

PRINCIPALS IN SALE OF YANKEES—William S. Paley, CBS board chairman, poses in a three-way handshake with Daniel R. Topping Sr., left, and Del E. Webb, right, chief owners of the New York Yankees, in connection with Paley's confirmation that CBS had bought 80 per cent interest in the New York American League baseball club, effective Nov. 2. Cites 'Lack Of Knowledge'

Networks 'Won't Dictate' Baseball Policy: Cronin

BOSTON (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin emphatically stated Monday "no communications organization will ever dictate to us" and postponed action on a request for an owners' meeting.

Cronin said he would give further consideration to the request of Arthur Allyn, president of the Chicago White Sox, concerning the sale of 80 per cent of the New York Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The league head plans more study of the question but hastily added he feels the miteries against the sale have been made mainly from "lack of knowledge."

Allyn had contended in a wire Cronin read for the first time Monday morning that the 8-2 telegraphic vote approving the sale last Thursday was not valid.

"Sufficient And Legal"

Cronin reiterated the league's lawyer, Benjamin Fiery of Cleveland, had termed the vote "sufficient and legal" before it was taken.

"I can't help but feel the acquisition of the New York Yankees by CBS will not in any way interfere with the broadcasting rights and negotiations with the clubs in either league.

"We in the American League want it understood we always have and will continue to decide all baseball matters in which we are concerned. We will make them on the basis of what is good for the league and the game of baseball.

No Dictating

"No communications organization will ever dictate to us, formulate our policy or influence our decisions."

In Chicago, Allyn said Monday that his demand for a league meeting still stands.

"Cronin says no communications organization will ever dictate to us but I'd have to say they already have dictated to us in the manner the poll and vote were taken," Allyn said.

Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, said he approved sale of the Yanks because he was satisfied there was no conflict of interest involved and that it was sound business.

Conflict Of Interest

"My whole premise before voting was to be satisfied there was no conflict of interest between the network and baseball," Yawkey said. "I also raised the question of any conflict of interest with CBS on the Monday TV Game of the Week program which John Fetzer (Detroit) and Bob Reynolds (Los Angeles) have been working on for some time.

"I was assured there was no conflict by Joe Cronin and Mr. William Paley and Dr. Frank Stanton of CBS, by direct contact and by the CBS press releases."

Football Boom Getting Bigger

NEW YORK (AP) — In Baltimore, if you ask to buy a season ticket to the Colts football games they take you down and show you how bad the seat is, and explain that's all they have left.

In New York, the Giants began turning down season ticket requests in March. "Frankly we should have stopped selling them sooner," said a Giant official. "The way things were going I'm surprised they didn't sell the switchboard operator's chair."

In Chicago, the best chance to see the Bears is either in a movie theater or at a motel outside the television blackout zone. Same story in Detroit.

Getting Bigger

The pro football boom, already big, is getting bigger.

There have been record exhibition game crowds, record season ticket sales and huge turnouts for ordinary practice sessions. Three cities will pipe their games into theaters via closed-circuit television.

The Cleveland Browns long ago sold the last of more than 80,000 tickets to an exhibition game doubleheader on Sept. 5.

The Minnesota Vikings had 5,500 people at a practice session in Bemidji, Minn.

35,000 Average

And the New York Jets, who couldn't afford to buy new footballs two years ago, say they expect to average 35,000 at their games in new Shea Stadium this year.

Already bolstered by two fabulous television contracts, the two pro football leagues will play before more fans in the stands this year than ever before.

An Associated Press survey showed that the major portion of the golden shower will continue to come down on the 14-team National Football League, which has operated in one form or another since 1921.

Bolstered By NBC

But the eight-team American Football League, founded in 1961 and now bolstered by NBC television money, is also looking for good days at the gate.

The survey showed that in six NFL cities—New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit and Green Bay-Milwaukee—it will be a virtual sellout every Sunday.

Cleveland, Washington and Minnesota will be close to capacity for every game.

Los Angeles and San Francisco, in the doldrums on the field for several years, are looking up. So are the only soft spots in the NFL gate picture, Pittsburgh, Dallas and St. Louis.

Good Crowds

In the AFL, the Jets, Houston Oilers, Boston Patriots and Buffalo Bills are expected to have good crowds. San Diego will be just short of capacity. Interest is good in Kansas City, Oakland and Denver.

However, the younger league has yet to produce one of the pro football hot spots where fans fight for tickets and drive miles to watch sold-out games at motels beyond the television blackout area.

There are 18 new assistant coaches throughout the National Football League this year.

Richie Allen Eyes 2 Baseball Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Allen, leading a charge that is moving the Philadelphia Phillies to their first National League pennant in 14 years, appears to have a good chance to become the first major leaguer to win the rookie and most valuable player awards in the same season.

Although Johnny Callison, the clutch-hitting outfielder, has been more frequently mentioned as Philadelphia's representative for MVP honors, Allen's credentials are more impressive.

The two are tied for the club home run lead with 20. Callison leads in runs batted in with 70 to Allen's 61. However, the young third baseman heads the team in batting with .318 while Callison's average is only .273.

Allen Fifth

In last week's games, Allen moved into fifth place in the NL batting race. He hit at a .429 clip with 12 hits in 28 tries as the Phillies won five of seven games and increased their lead over runner-up San Francisco from 2½ to 4½ games.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh has a stranglehold on the batting lead. He holds an 18-point edge over Chicago's Ron Santo in second place.

Willie Mays of San Francisco, another leading candidate for MVP honors, remained in fourth place with a .322 mark.

Brisk Pace

In the American League, Minnesota rookie Tony Oliva shows no sign of slackening his brisk pace. He boosted his pace-setting average five points to .339, collecting 10 hits in 22 at bats.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees advanced from third to second, changing places with Chicago's Floyd Robinson. Mantle had nine hits in 23 attempts and picked up six points to .315. Robinson climbed one point to .311 with a 9-for-28 showing. The figures include Sunday's games.

Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota heads the field in homers with 42 and RBI, 95. He had three homers and seven RBI last week.

Business Manager Leaves With Him

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bing Devine, the soft-spoken guiding hand behind St. Louis' baseball fortunes, confirmed with "emotion and regret" his resignation as Cardinal general manager Monday.

Stepping out with him was Art Routzong, 52, business manager.

The Cardinals later announced the appointment of Robert L. Howsam as Routzong's successor. Howsam, former general manager of the Denver Bears Baseball club, was with a securities firm in Denver. He assumes the business manager post immediately.

Shocks Baseball World

The action surprised the baseball world. Devine, 47, was a career man with the Cardinal organization and had spent his 25 years since graduating from college within the Redbird fold.

"Since it has been learned about my resignation prematurely," Devine said, "I have no choice other than to confirm it."

Last year, when the Cards finished second in the National League, Devine was named major league baseball's No. 1 executive-of-the-year by the Sporting News.

"Disappointed" Boss

Devine said he would remain with the club "until or at least near the end of the season." He made his decision, he said, because Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr. had become "disappointed and frustrated" over the team's inability to win a pennant.

Routzong's resignation was effective immediately. His estimated salary was $17,500, Devine's was $40,000.

In confirming his resignation, Devine made a gracious effort to allay any criticism of Field Manager Johnny Keane for the Cards' unexpected poor showing this year. St. Louis was in fifth place Monday, nine games behind league-leading Philadelphia.

No Comment

Busch, probably the richest man in St. Louis and whose brewery concerns are world-wide, had no immediate comment.

"I have no immediate plans for the future except to finish the season here and be of whatever assistance as might be desired by my successor," Devine said. "I am open to ideas."

Garvin Leads Pennsy Golf

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Hard-hitting Frank (Buzz) Garvin of Philadelphia, playing competitively for the first time on the Hershey Country Club golf course, fired a record-tying 67 Monday to take the first round lead in the 48th Pennsylvania Open golf tournament.

Garvin strung together seven birdies, five in a row on holes 9 through 13, to wind up with a sizzling six-under-par on the 6,928-yard layout.

Skee Riegel of York set the single round record in the 1962 tournament.

Beats Deadline

TOKYO (AP) — Greece, the mother of the Olympics, beat the deadline by minutes and became the 93rd nation Monday to enter the Tokyo Games, starting Oct. 10.

Organizers said the entry list would be the largest in the history of the event.

Mets Blank Pirates, 5-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Smith, playing left field for the first time as Manager Casey Stengel loaded his line-up with right-handed hitters, smashed two homers and rookie Dennis Ribant pitched a four-hit shutout in a 5-0 New York Mets victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday.

Smith, an infielder by trade, cracked a three-run homer in the first and a solo blast in the eighth. He now has 15 homers, tops on the team.

Ribant, obtained from Milwaukee in the trade for Frank Lary, won his first major league victory in his second start. He lost his first one to the Pirates. He struck out 10.

Minnesota Vikings--'64 Surprise Team?

The Minnesota Vikings may be the surprise pro football team of 1964.

Winner of only five National League games during the championship 1963 season, the Vikings have swept their first two exhibition games this season against better rated opponents with an impressive display of ball control and a stalwart defense.

The chalked up victory No. 2 Saturday night by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 24-10 at Atlanta in a highlight of the second weekend of the pro exhibition season. The previous weekend the Vikings had whipped the New York Giants 21-7.

Clear Indication

Two exhibition games don't make a season, of course, but it is a clear indication that Coach Norm Van Brocklin's boys must not be underrated.

The Green Bay Packers and Paul Hornung bounced back from a previous week's defeat by St. Louis to wallop the Giants 34-10.

In other Saturday night NFL exhibitions the champion Chicago Bears edged the Washington Redskins 14-13, the Cleveland Browns trounced the Los Angeles Rams 56-31 and the Dallas Cowboys humbled the San Francisco 49ers 34-23.

The San Diego Chargers, American League champions, overcame the Houston Oilers 44-38 in the only AFL exhibition schedule. No games were scheduled in either league Sunday.

Tarkenton Stars

Fran Tarkenton came off the bench in the closing minutes and engineered two quick touchdowns to give the Vikings their victory. The score was tied at 10-10 until Tarkenton passed 22 yards to Bill Brown on the St. Louis 11 and flipped to Paul Flatley three plays later for the winning TD.

A sellout 42,327 at Green Bay saw Hornung flash his old time form in the rout of the Giants. He booted two field goals from 17 and 30 yards out, added four conversions, and tossed a 56-yard touchdown pass to Boyd Dowler.

The score was tied 3-3 at halftime before the Packers exploded for their eighth straight victory over the New Yorkers.

1964 success car—the Dodge Dart. This stylish, snappy performer has been one of "The Dodge Boys'" most popular models this year. The car has received excellent competitive ratings for performance and handling in the compact field.

H. A. Rodenbach & Son, 'the West End Dodge Boys', Starts Clearance Sale On Golden Anniversary Cars

H. A. Rodenbach & Son, "The Dodge Boys" in Brodheadsville, are in the process of wrapping up a busy, successful year with Dodge's 50th anniversary cars.

Excellent quality control — backed by Chrysler Corporation's sweeping 5-year/50,000-mile guarantee — have made Dodge a steady seller this year.

The 1964 models, which embody plenty of automotive know-how, have made impressive sales gains in a fiercely competitive market.

It all started 50 years ago, in 1914, when John and Horace Dodge decided to build a car of their own because the automotive parts business didn't look so good.

There were 1600 other car makes that year and Dodge is one of the few that survived the competition.

With new 1965 models earmarked for arrival in early Fall, this is the traditional time of the year for model closeout sales. This is all the more true this year since the auto transporters strike recently held up so many 1964 deliveries.

In preparation for the '65 arrivals, H. A. Rodenbach & Son announced last week they are "making really good deals on the last of the 1964 models."

Rodenbach's are offering close-out sales on the following Dodge models:

880 four-door sedan, 880 two-door hardtop, Dart 270 station wagon, 330 four-door sedan, 440 four-door sedan, Dart 'GT' hardtop, Polara 500 two-door hardtop.

Rodenbach's modern showroom and service department is located in Brodheadsville at the intersection of Routes 209 and 115. The Dodge dealership also specializes in body and fender work, all make service and automatic transmission repair.

'Poppy Kids' Honored By N'fld Post

NEWFOUNDLAND — The "poppy kids," local youngsters who aided the Auxiliary of Phillips - Zacharias - Phillips Post 859, American Legion, in the 1964 Buddy Poppy sale, were honored at a picnic at the home of Poppy Chairman Eleanore Staph at which Cora Lange and Lucille Smith assisted.

Guests of the unit were Sharon Haag, Carol Zane, Mary Beth Supina, Joan and Wendy Nevin, Carol Butler, Jane Young, Carla Smith, Susan and Sharon Newcomer, Linda Gilpin, Molly Burke and Pamela Logan.

The auxiliary has discontinued regular business meetings until October 6, when the session will be held at the American Legion Hall.

At the October meeting, Mrs. Doris Bartleson, newly-elected president, will assume office, with this slate of officers also chosen by the unit: Alberta Rochfort (retiring president) first vice president; Eleanore Staph, second vice president; Cora Lange, secretary; Barthelia Barnes, treasurer; Madelyn Carey, chaplain; Thelma Peet and Ruth Anne Cunningham, sergeants-at-arms; and Helen Feigel, historian.

Newest Poconos Producer Seen Youngest In Trade

By Peggy Bancroft
Record Correspondent

NEWFOUNDLAND — Working in the make-believe world of the theatre is much like eating peanuts. Once you've started, you just can't stop!

That is the opinion of veteran theatrical man Anthony Carone, who was introduced to the theatre at the age of 16 and who, at 21, is probably the youngest producer in the whole of these United States.

Producer of the newest "showplace" in the Poconos, Carone heads up the Newfoundland Musical Theatre, now in its first season of musical comedy production.

Anthony Carone had no intention of ever dabbling — for fun or for serious — in the world of the theatre. At Grady Technical High School some seven-odd years ago, he had his sights set on a career as an electrical engineer.

Then came one of those insignificant little moments of decision — when he took a job answering the telephone at the Brooklyn Community Playhouse. After school, he went down to the playhouse — a combination theatre group and school — and worked in the office.

The telephone was not remotely connected with the production at hand — "Oklahoma" — but it rang his number, anyway. This was his world — and it short - circuited his plans for the unexciting vocation he had planned. He had one dream: that of becoming a theatrical producer.

Stage Manager

He forsook the telephone and the business office for the post of stage manager — and by a strange coincidence (one of many in his varied career) one of the actors in the show was Andrew Fredricks, now associate producer of the Newfoundland Musical Theatre.

No sooner had he been graduated from Grady than he organized the Brooklyn Musical Comedy Company. His venture into the world of grease paint and first nights met with the opposition of his parents, who wanted him to go to college and not "fool around with this theatre business." He compromised. After he had staged "Guys and Dolls" at the 2,207-seat Academy of Music in Brooklyn, he would enroll in college.

His first production of "Guys and Dolls" was, in his words, "an artistic — and partially financial — success." It was all he needed. Here was a foot in the door. Here was the chance to become, overnight, a David Merrick.

He started one production, and then another, and another. Each was a little more successful than the first, — which starred (by coincidence) Joe Elia, (now associate producer), Joey Sauter and Joan Kobin, (now Newfoundland Musical Theatre stars).

Success in the theatre pushed college into the background, until the day when — at 19 — Producer Carone found how fickle success can be. He failed.

Ready at last to enter college, he (by coincidence) picked up a thearical magazine and read "400 seat Summer theatre, located in the heart of the Poconos, for rent."

Academy of Music

He was off again in search of a dream — but, after looking over the Haubert Theatre in Newfoundland, and deciding that it was exactly what he wanted — that, actually, it was perfect — he decided to better prepare himself for the plunge, and he took a round-about road to Newfoundland, via, again, the Brooklyn Academy of Music. He teamed up with manager Janis Call and produced "The Mikado" which ran one week and lost eight thousand dollars.

Undaunted, they organized the Children's Fantasy Theatre and presented "The Emperor's New Clothes" at the 41st Street Theatre in New York — a production which won the "best children's show award" that year.

Next came Winter stock in Florida, where Carone served as publicity director for the Fort Myers Winter Playhouse. At last he was learning the business inside out — and forming the basis for the theatre in Newfoundland.

Next came a partnership with Peter Symcox, now director of Canada's most popular television program, "Chez Helene," in a Summer theatre in Ellenville. This was followed by the position of manager of the Astor Theatre on Broadway.

At The Astor

It was at the Astor that the inspiration struck him. It was time to look into the "400-seat theatre in the heart of the Poconos." And (by coincidence), who should walk into the Astor but Joe Elia, who had (by coincidence) one thought: "Let's go to Newfoundland."

Maybe it was symbolical, but the opening production at the new theatre in the "heart of the Poconos" was "Guys and Dolls." The play was a complete success — with SRO audiences applauding the opening of the brand new theatre.

Carone's feeling about Newfoundland (where "everybody knows Tony — there's only one like him in the Poconos") is that it is "friendly, wonderful country — clean as a whistle wherever you look."

He's also — at 21 — firmly established in the glittering world of show business — which after all — is just like eating peanuts. Once you're in it, you just can't stop!

Woman, 72, Breaks Arm

PEN ARGYL — A 72-year-old Pen Argyl woman who broke her arm in a fall down her cellar steps was reported in fair condition yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem.

Mrs. Pearl Lobb of 211 Schanck Ave. told hospital attendants she tumbled down the steps Friday while carrying a storm window. She was found four hours later by a painter working in her home. She was taken to the hospital in the Wind Gap Fire Co. ambulance.

Local Man Cuts Hand In Stumble

STROUDSBURG — Paul Cramer, 35, of Main St., Stroudsburg was treated for cuts of the right hand Sunday night after he stumbled and shoved his hand through a glass window at the Italian Club at 408 Main St., Stroudsburg.

According to Stroudsburg police, he was treated at the General Hospital of Monroe County and released.

Bicycle Safety Course In E-Burg

EAST STROUDSBURG—Lewis Hastie, East Stroudsburg summer recreational director, announced last night a course in bicycle safety will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the borough playground on Day St.

Hastie said State Trooper John Kinsella will run the program. He said arrangements were by Mayor Thomas L. Kistler.

Hastie said all children interested should register at the swimming pool. He said they do not have to register to take part, however.

"The Fall Of The Roman Empire" Shows The Decline of Rome in 180 A.D.

Samuel Bronston's mammoth spectacle, "The Fall Of The Roman Empire," in Ultra Panavision and Technicolor, opens Wednesday at the Grand Theatre. With a star-studded cast headed by Sophia Loren, Stephen Boyd, Alec Guinness, James Mason, Christopher Plummer, Anthony Quayle, John Ireland, Mel Ferrer and Omar Sharif, "The Fall Of The Roman Empire" is the story of Rome's historic descent from the height of civilization to the depths of despair.

One hundred and eighty years *after the birth of Christ, the Ro*man Empire was at the height of its power under Emperor Marcus Aurelius (Alec Guinness). However, the Emperor, with his health failing and aware that his time is short, summons all the rulers of the land, and in a stirring speech urges their support for a united empire whereby all member nations will live under the same law as equals.

Present at this historic gathering is the Emperor's son, Commodus, (Christopher Plummer); his daughter, Lucilla (Sophia Loren); as well as Livius (Stephen Boyd), one of his top generals.

That night, two things occur which ignite the empire's sudden downfall; the Emperor tells his daughter that for the sake of the empire she must marry King Sohanus (Omar Sharif) of Armenia; also, he remarks to Livius that Commodus, his son, is not worthy to become his successor, and instead, he wants Livius to become emperor.

Aurelius suddenly dies, and without proof that he wanted Livius as his successor, there is no choice but to name Commodus as the new Caesar. Commodus finally does take over, and with his ascent to the throne, the Roman Empire starts tumbling downward.

"The Fall Of The Roman Empire" has been acclaimed as one of the most spectacular films ever to be put on the screen.

HOW TO TAKE A BITTER MEDICINE

Most medicines today are so pleasantly flavored that they really taste good. Children's medicines are so well liked, as a rule, that they must be stored out of their reach, otherwise the kids will take too much.

But, there are a few whose taste may not please you. Then, just take an ice cube and rub it gently on your tongue for about a minute. Like magic, your sense of taste will be temporarily lessened and even the bitterest of medicines will not be unpleasant.
